HOOVER ATTACKS APPROPRIATION OF $25,000,000 FOR RED CROSS

Death Toll In New Zealand Earthquake Placed At 250

TREMORS AT EARLY HOUR HINDER WORK

Most of Business Buildings In Napier and Hastings Are Wrecked By Quake

DAMAGES TERRIFIC

Tidal Waves and Fires Add To Suffering As Rescue Workers Get Busy

AUCKLAND, N. Z., Feb. 4.—(UP)—(Wednesday)—The broadly curved eastern coast of North Island, which was rocked near Hawks bay by a devastating earthquake early Tuesday, was shaken again at midnight by new tremors which were less violent.

The new tremors, which occurred at intervals, hampered the feverish work of rescue in the stricken district around Napier, where semi-official advices reported 100 dead, and Hastings, where 21 were known killed and 100 others unofficially estimated dead.

The earthquake, which caused a twisting or shifting of certain unfersea regions along the coast and was reported to have raised the harbor floor at Napier 18 feet, wrecked most of the business buildings at Napier and Hastings. Tidal waves and fire added to the many millions of dollars damage.

16 Still Trapped

At Hastings 16 employes still were trapped in a store building which was demolished. One man was extricated uninjured after nine hours of work, but the new tremors hindered further rescue efforts.

Many were reported injured at Hastings and about 1000 were said to be injured at Napier. The casualties in other towns—Gisborne, Mangaweka, Waipukurau, Wairoa, Waipawa, Taupo and Bororua—which were known to have suffered great damage, were uncertain.

The first relief forces were en route to Napier on two British cruisers, which were making 24 knots and due to arrive at daybreak. Sixteen doctors and 18 nurses with necessary supplies were aboard the ships.

The greatest losses of life at Napier were believed due to the collapse of the town's largest hotel, a three-story brick building, and the tumbling of numerous residences on a cliff into the sea. The center of the town was reported almost wiped out by the earthquake and subsequent fire.

Apparently the disturbance centered at Napier and extended about 100 miles north and west and about 50 miles south. There was a possibility that ships at sea might have been affected.

Hospitals Crumble

There were several reports of damage to hospitals in which helpless patients were caught in demolished buildings or crushed by landslides.

PRICE OF MILK IS BOOSTED IN SAN FRANCISCO

War of Two Weeks Duration Nears End Due to Lack of Ammunition

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3.—(UP)—For lack of ammunition, San Francisco's two weeks old milk war seemed near armistice today.

After battling for days on a dwindling price scale, independent grocers and all chain stores except one group were in agreement that prices had become "suicidal." As a consequence, milk that brought seven cents a quart yesterday sold at 11 cents today.

Also, it was announced, independent retailers in the suburbs, who since Saturday had established the farcial offer of a quart of milk and a candy bar for five cents, agreed to abandon any "premium" plan in connection with milk marketing and to return to the 11 cent figure.

At 11 cents, milk sold one cent below prewar prices, delivered milk was retailed at 13 cents also one cent below prewar prices.

The one insurgent in the new agreement was a chain group headed by J. H. Lanfeld. This chain sold yesterday at eight cents, and, when Lanfeld was last seen, was considering another one cent drop.

"We believe the price should stay at eight cents," Lanfeld said. "Any more is unjustified." This was in sharp contrast to attitude of other distributors, who declared that the industry had been carried on for two weeks at an increasingly large loss.

The new price agreement was reached after a series of conferences between independent representatives and officials of two large chain stores, participants in the war, according to William D. Hadeler, head of the independent group.

Hadeler said the truce would continue until "someone kicked over the traces."

In San Francisco, Assistant District Attorney John R. Tyrell refused citizens' requests to lay the "milk war" before a grand jury, declaring that unless there was a criminal showing the jury had no authority.

A proposed meeting of Governor Rolph and another delegation at Sacramento was postponed until Thursday.

Word came from Sacramento, where milk has sold as low as four cents a quart, that an agreement had been reached and that milk today was bringing 10 cents a quart in the stores, 12 cents delivered.

TWO ESCAPE WHEN LAUNCH DESTROYED

EUREKA, Calif., Feb. 3.—(UP)—The mystery of the burning vessel 30 miles north of here stood solved today with the arrival of the coast guard cutter Cahokia, which rescued the crew of two men.

Capt. Adolf M. Moller, Seattle, and Olaf Webstad, the crew of the power launch Vertex, cleared the mystery that had caused wide speculation and excitement along the coast all day yesterday.

Captain Moller explained his launch left Seattle last week and caught fire yesterday morning, forcing him and the mate to abandon the ship in a small dory. The Vertex sank.

IRVINE FRUIT GROWERS GET $625,000 FOR ORANGE CROP

GENERAL HINES OPPOSES FOUR VET MEASURES

Says Congress Should Give Consideration to Aid for Widows, Orphans

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(UP)—Gen. Frank T. Hines, head of the United States Veterans bureau, testifying before the senate finance committee today, refused to endorse any of the four plans for readjusting veterans compensation which have been suggested to congress.

"My best advice is," he said, "that the congress should give consideration to the further extension of benefits to the disabled, to the widows and orphans of deceased ex-service men, and to the building of additional hospitals and soldiers' homes to care for the sick, and leave the able-bodied ex-service men to take their places along with the other citizens of the country in working out their own salvation in these distressing times."

While Hines was testifying before the senate committee, E. D. Duffield, president of the Prudential Life Insurance company, was telling the house ways and means committee that issuance at this time of a large amount of new government securities to pay a cash bonus would postpone a return of prosperity.

Hines before the senate committee enumerated the four plans under consideration as:

The payment of face value of all adjusted service certificates.

Payment of the present value of all adjusted service certificates.

Payment of adjusted service credits, plus 25 per cent, and plus four per cent interest to the present time.

Increased loans.

"Undoubtedly from a financial standpoint the least costly and therefore from that standpoint the best, would be the fourth plan," he said, "namely, that to increase the loan values on the certificates.

"Likewise, this plan has the merit of not requiring the surrender of the certificates in order to secure additional funds," he said.

"The first three plans mentioned, while providing a real measure of cash relief, are, according to the secretary of the treasury and other financial experts, unsound from a financial and economic standpoint.

"Therefore, I find myself in a predicament of being unable to recommend one plan because of the inadequacy of the relief afforded and the others because of their adverse effect on the finances of the country."

CHURCH INQUIRY ON CANNON OPENS TODAY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(UP)—Bishop James Cannon jr., supported on crutches and walking with difficulty, hobbled up the steps of the Mt. Vernon Place M. E. church, South, today to face an investigation of charges concerning his stock market and political activities.

Three bishops of the church, the four elders who filed the secret charges which resulted in the present inquiry, and 12 elders who are sitting as a jury, convened at the church at 10 a. m. to consider the accusations. Cannon was according the privilege of listening and answering when called upon for explanations.

A special entrance to the church was arranged for Bishop Cannon so that he was able to escape photographers. He was pale, showing the effects of the arthritis with which he has been suffering for months.

San Clemente Wins School Fight Today

Will Be Permitted to Have Its Own District By State Ruling

SAN CLEMENTE will be permitted to have its own school district, it was learned today. Deputy District Attorney W. F. Menton received word from Sacramento that the appeal of the board of supervisors from a ruling of State Superintendent of Public Instruction Vierling Kersey denying the formation of a separate district, had been granted by the state board of control.

A hearing on the matter was held in Sacramento last Thursday, when Menton, accompanied by Thomas Murphine, mayor of San Clemente, Hal Warner and Den M. Acres, also of the Spanish village, appeared before the board of control and presented arguments for the withdrawal of the San Clemente territory from the Serra school district.

Menton said that the information from the state capital was unofficial but authentic. The argument for the creation of the new district was made on the basis of convenience and economy, and it was shown to the board of control that the assessed valuations of the two districts would be sufficient to permit them to function properly. It was also shown that the city of San Clemente was ready to give property valued at $60,000 without any capital expenditure on the part of the proposed district, and that there was no opposition from the Serra district of which the territory in question is now a part.

Upon receipts of official word from the board of control the board of supervisors will make an order forming the district in accordance with the petition and an election will be called for the election of school trustees.

The district must be formed by February 10, under the law, or wait until next October. Menton said he was hopeful that the ruling would be received this week so that the district could be formed next Tuesday.

FLIGHT OF FLYING BOAT IS DELAYED

LAS PALMAS, Canary Islands, Feb. 3.—(UP)—The German flying boat Do-X flight to Cape Verde islands was postponed today due to temporary motor trouble.

The Do-X started maneuvers for departure on its flight, but the motor trouble forced the delay. The trouble was repaired at 8:30 a. m. which officials considered too late to permit the ship which is at Gando bay, 25 miles from Las Palmas, to reach Cape Verde before dusk. The trip was postponed until dawn tomorrow.

Committee Fails To Vote On Power Board Commission

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3. — (UP)—The senate interstate commerce committee voted today to report to the senate without recommendation the nominations of George Otis Smith, Marcel Garsaud and Claude L. Draper, to be members of the Federal Power commission.

This latest development in the senate's contest with President Hoover over the commission may lead to an early vote in which the senate probably will reject the nominations.

The nominations once were confirmed but later the senate rescinded its action.

GAS EXPLODES ON SPEED BOAT; EIGHT ESCAPE

Seven Girl Students From Claremont In Danger—Four Are Injured

NEWPORT BEACH, Feb. 3.—Seven young women and a Balboa youth escaped death or serious injury late yesterday in an explosion on the 24-foot speedboat, "Petun," owned by Allen C. Stelle, of Claremont.

Barbara Curran, who was sitting on a hatch of the craft, was thrown into the air and landed in another boat which was alongside the "Petun."

Emily Scott was knocked unconscious by the explosion and Ruth Stelle and Christine Brooks suffered burns.

Others on the boat were Lindsay Towne, Janeth McFarren, and Frances Englun, and Jack Bennett, of Balboa. They were not injured.

The speedboat was at the Balboa pavilion at the time, repairs being made to the propeller. Gas which had accumulated in the cabin was ignited when some member of the party stepped on the electric starter.

3 EXPELLED FROM U. S. NAVAL ACADEMY

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 3.—(UP)—As the result of what has been described as a "drunken brawl" in the dormitory of Bancroft hall, three midshipmen have been forced to resign from the United States Naval academy.

Academy officials withheld the names of the midshipmen, but it was learned two of them were to have graduated in June while the other was a second class man. It was understood one is from Idaho, another from Indiana and the third from Montana. The three left the academy yesterday.

New Mathematical Theory Taken Up By Prof. Einstein

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 3.—(UP)—Prof. Albert Einstein is working on a new unified mathematical theory which will encompass gravitation, light, electricity and electro magnetism, according to his California host, Dr. Robert A. Millikan, who procured the German scientist's answers to 15 questions propounded by the Yale Daily News.

All but two of the questions were scientific, of such as the nature of the cosmic ray and possible acceleration of the velocity of light as it approaches a field of gravitation.

Asked if science could do anything to prevent the possible disintegration of civilization as it was known before the World war, Einstein was quoted as saying "Only man's determination can solve this problem."

Arizona Town Of 300 Persons Under Strict Quarantine

CHRISTMAS, Ariz., Feb. 3. — (UP)—This mining town of 300 persons, which was founded on Christmas day, 1902, has been quarantined by Gila county officials in an attempt to curb an outbreak of spinal meningitis.

Nine persons have died here in the last two months. Two patients and 25 contact cases are in an isolation hospital.

Record Year Reported At Conference

Shipments During Year Expected to Exceed Those of 1930

TWO HUNDRED and ninety-two cars of citrus fruit shipped by the Irvine Valencia Growers netted grower-members $623,322.72, it was reported by C. W. Post, secretary-manager, at the annual meeting held at the packing house yesterday.

The house received $3.39 a field box for the past season, as against $2.19 a field box in the 1929 season.

In 1929, the first year of the association, the house netted $381,456.06 on 267 cars of valencias, the increase in profits this year being due to the higher prices received for fruit.

With the addition of 230 acres from the Irvine company, the association expects to ship between 475 and 500 cars this year, Post said today.

Officers and directors named yesterday are as follows: A. J. McFadden, president; W. B. Hellis, vice president; Ralph Mitchell, second vice president; Robert Jeffrey and Walter L. West, directors.

Post was re-appointed as was A. H. Halleck, assistant.

C. C. JULIAN FACES DIVORCE COMPLAINT

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 3.—(UP)—C. C. Julian, oil man, was sought today by process servers attempting to serve him with papers in a divorce suit filed yesterday by his wife, Mrs. Mary Olive Julian.

Julian had checked out of his hotel here immediately after the suit was filed, and was reported en route to Oklahoma City, where he said he intended to bring in a new well.

Mrs. Julian named four women in her complaint, one an Indian girl, with whom she charged he had been guilty of misconduct. She asked custody of their two children, a receivership for her husband's property, an injunction to restrain him from disposing of his assets and for a full accounting of his holdings.

Use Of Dirigible In Maneuvers Off Panama Attacked

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—(UP)—Participation by the United States Navy airship Los Angeles in maneuvers off Panama constitutes a violation of the treaty of Versailles, the newspaper Lokal Anzeiger said today.

A dispatch from the newspaper's correspondent in Paris declared that the treaty forbids the use of the Los Angeles for military purposes, and that although the United States obtained permission in the present circumstances from Britain, France, Italy and Japan, the American government did not elicit agreement from other Versailles signatories.

BREAKS TRADITION

PARIS, Feb. 3. — (UP) — Miss Marjorie Nahl, daughter of Mrs. William Van Wyck, of Berkeley, Calif., and Paris, broke with tradition and set a new custom for brides today when she was married at the American cathedral of Paris to Stephen Caleb Wilmans, of Berkeley.

Instead of carrying the traditional bride's bouquet, Miss Nahl, at the suggestion of M. Worth, designer of her bridal gown, carried one long stemmed white cala lily which seemed to accentuate the youth of her gown.

Heeds Call Of Sister By Hitch-Hiking

DENVER, Colo., Feb. 3.—(UP)—Despite the fact that Mrs. Mary Fullerton, Los Angeles, had no money and her husband was out of work, she heeded the call of a sick sister and was at her bedside today, after hitch-hiking from the coast city.

Mrs. Fullerton's sister, Mrs. Mildred Daniels, 18, has been ill since the birth of a son several days ago. When Mrs. Fullerton got word of Mrs. Daniel's condition, she decided there was "nothing to do but 'hop' automobiles in order to reach Denver.

The girl started out and obtained enough rides to get here in a short time. Mrs. Daniels was reported improving today.

LOVE TALES OF CATHERINE OF RUSSIA BANNED

Chicago School Superintendent Bars History From Class Room

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—(UP)—History textbooks which recount the loves of Catherine the Great of Russia were ruled out of Chicago high school libraries and class rooms today as unfit reading matter for 14 year old sophomores.

The ruling was made by Superintendent of School William T. Bogan, who was chosen for office when Mayor William Hale Thompson won his battle to "purge" school books of references to England which "Big Bill the Builder" regarded as unfavorable to the United States and suitable only for bonfires.

Bogan said he found passages "entirely too raw" in Katherine Anthony's biography of Catherine II, Empress of Russia from 1762 to 1796 and criticized Miss J. Louise Hanna, Austin high school teacher, for assigning the book to her students.

"Either the teacher had not read the book before she assigned it or else it was an error of judgment on her part," Bogan said. He refused to say whether any disciplinary action would be taken.

Miss Hanna replied with a challenge to Bogan to "censor" the shelves of Chicago high school libraries, declaring that the works of Spencer and Shakespeare should be withdrawn if fault is to be found with Catherine the Great's history.

E. H. Wise, whose daughter, Carol, 14, is an Austin high school student, started the rumpus when he found Carol poring over the biography, and upon reading it himself, discovered material he termed "unfit for young pupils."

Among the passages Bogan called "entirely too raw" were these:

"The love relationships of Catherine the Great form the most fascinating aspect of her life and career. She has been celebrated as a northern semiramis, a Russian Messalina."

"At the age of sixty, the empress had no eyes for anything but youth. Her lovers had been growing younger and younger."

"Potiomin (designated as the fifth of Catherine's 13 lovers) was a great Russian brute who drank outrageously and swore heavily."

CHARLIE CHAPLIN MAY MAKE TALKIE

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 3.—(UP)—If Charley Chaplin's new silent picture "City Lights" is a disappointment, he may try the talkies.

The screen comedian admitted as much during a brief stop here last night. He was enroute to New York, where he will attend a showing of "City Lights" Friday night.

"I don't know whether I can talk, but may try," Chaplin said. "Be assured I will not sing. I will do anything that will make good entertainment. I am making pictures for my own pleasure and the pleasure of other people. If they do not find pleasure in 'City Lights' I shall change my medium. I am not bound to pantomime."

ASKS PEOPLE GIVE RELIEF BY DONATING

In 1500 Word Statement To Newspapermen Urges Communities to Aid

RECOUNTS OWN WORK

In Shaken Voice Declares He Is Not Lacking In Sympathy, As Charged

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(UP)—President Hoover, meeting with newspaper men today, spiritedly attacked the $25,000,000 appropriation for Red Cross relief upon which the house and senate are deadlocked.

He said the proposal to use federal funds for food in the drought stricken areas "strikes at the very roots of self government."

He made the statement after Senator Watson (Rep., Ind.) had discussed with him at breakfast means of breaking the legislative deadlock over the appropriation and after having brought the matter before the cabinet for discussion.

He appealed to congress and the nation to give needed relief in what he characterized the "American way." He urged that local communities and state governments mobilize to minister to the hungry and cold through voluntary subscriptions.

People Have Resources

"I do not think I should be charged with lack of human sympathy," the president said in a shaken voice as he recited some of his own experiences in relief work. "The people have the resources, the ability, the desire and the kindliness of spirit to meet the situation."

In his own relief work, Mr. Hoover explained, relief always was accomplished on the basis of voluntary contribution except where people were unable to care for themselves.

"Only this morning the Red Cross notified me no one is going hungry and that no one need go hungry or cold," Mr. Hoover said. He contended the Red Cross has the resources and ability to meet the situation as it stands.

If the Red Cross should find itself unable to cope with the spread of suffering, Mr. Hoover asserted, he would be as eager as any senator or congressman to take every possible step to alleviate the situation.

The appropriation of federal funds would break down the sense of responsibility of the citizens and local governments to meet the responsibility of local disasters to the full extent of their resources, the president argued. He cited the stand taken in 1887 by a Democratic president, Grover Cleveland, against the use of federal money to relieve local distress.

Money Is Spent

Voluntary organizations already set up are spending many times more than the $25,000,000 proposed by the senate, he contended.

Mr. Hoover also contended that at the outset of the drought the general understanding was that the Red Cross would handle the situation and that the nation would support it voluntarily "in that fine spirit of mutual assistance which has always characterized its relief activities."

Reception Will Be Held By Joseph Smith

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 3.—(UP)—Joseph P. Smith of Santa Ana, newly appointed state real estate commissioner, will hold an informal reception at his office tomorrow afternoon at 2 p. m., it was announced today. Smith arrived here yesterday from Southern California to take over his new duties.

While refusing to comment on the matter, Smith intimated that T. A. Kelly of San Diego is to be retained as chief deputy here.

ASKS PEOPLE GIVE RELIEF BY DONATING

Government departments are giving all the service possible, the president said. The expenditure for federal construction work has been increased he said, from $275,000,000 a year to $700,000,000 a year, furnishing additional employment for many thousands.

Furthermore he maintained the normal methods require that municipal and state government use their own resources before seeking aid from a federal agency.

Following his statement the president made public a letter from John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross saying that his organization is confident of its ability to raise sufficient funds to meet the situation.

Payne told the president that the neighbors and friends of drought sufferers and public spirited people are furnishing relief, adding:

"We know of no better method of helping them."

CUPID LURING MANY COUPLES TO SANTA ANA

Marriage license business in Orange county is getting better, according to Joe M. Backs, county clerk, who operates one of the busiest license bureaus in the state. There was an increase of 26 in the total number issued last month as compared to the same period in 1930, and the first business day of February started off with a rush.

The bureau issued 281 licenses last month as compared to 255 for January 1930. In 1929 the same month shows that 265 licenses were issued. The 1931 number was exceeded in 1927 and 1928, however, when the respective January totals were 432 and 285. The total number of licenses issued through Back's office last year was 3531, as compared to 3869 the previous year and 3548 in 1928.

Business yesterday was particularly good, with a total of 20 licenses issued during regular business hours and two after the office had closed.

The last license issued for the day went to Johann Karl von Althaus, 32, aviator, born in Germany, and Anna Favalli, 22, dancer, born in Germany. Both gave their addresses at a Santa Ana hotel.

Seventeen notices of intention to marry were filed yesterday.

TIERNAN DEATH IS CALLED ACCIDENT

Albert Lee Tiernan, 46, of Rosemead, who was killed Sunday night when he attempted to flag a Pacific Electric train at Stanton while standing too near the right-of-way, died in an accidental manner, according to the verdict of a coroner's jury which held an inquest over the body at the Backs, Terry and Campbell Funeral parlors late yesterday.

In delivering the verdict the jury exonerated the train crew of responsibility in the accident.

Tiernan had been visiting his brother at Stanton and was returning to Los Angeles. He stood close to the rails and attempted to flag the train. He was not seen by the motorman and the train struck him and tossed his body 100 feet.

Funeral services will be held in Anaheim from the funeral parlors at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow, the Rev. T. H. Walker, pastor of the First Presbyterian church officiating. Burial will be made in the Central Memorial park.

AIR MAIL FLAG

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7—An official air mail flag has been adopted by the U. S. Post Office department to be flown over all airports at which air mail planes stop. The flag was designed by Col. L. H. Brittin of Northwest Airways, and consist of horizontal red, white and blue stripes on a white field. Huge gold wings and a globe carrying the words "U. S. Air Mail" are imposed over the stripes.

TEXT OF PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(UP)—The text of President Hoover's statement today attacking proposed federal funds for relief follows:

"Certain senators have issued a public statement to the effect that unless the president and the house of representatives agree to appropriations from the federal treasury for charitable purposes they will force an extra session of congress.

"I do not wish to add acrimony to a discussion but would rather state this case as I see its fundamentals.

"This is not an issue as to whether people shall go hungry or cold in the United States. It is solely a question of the best method by which hunger and cold shall be prevented. It is a question as to whether the American people on the one hand will maintain the spirit of charity and mutual self help through voluntary giving and the responsibility of local government as distinguished on the other hand from appropriation out of the federal treasury for such purposes. My own conviction is strongly that if we break down this sense of responsibility of individual generosity through individual and mutual self help in the country in times of national difficulty and if we start appropriations of this character we have not only impaired something infinitely valuable in the life of the American people but have struck at the roots of self government.

"Once this has happened it is not the cost of a few score million, but we are faced with the abyss of reliance upon government charity in some form or other. The money involved is indeed the least of the costs to American ideals and American institution.

"President Cleveland, in 1887, confronted with a similar issue, stated in part:

"A prevalent tendency to disregard a limited mission of this power shoud, I think, be steadfastly resisted, to the end that the lesson should be constantly enforced that though the people support the government, the government should not support the people.

"The friendliness and charity of our countrymen can always be relief upon to relieve their fellow citizens in misfortune. This has been repeatedly and quite recently demonstrated. Federal aid in such cases encourages the expectation of paternal care on the part of the government and weakens the sturdiness of our national character while it prevents the indulgence among our people of that kindly sentiment and conduct which strengthens the bonds of a common brotherhood.'

"And there is a practical problem in all this. The help being daily extended by neighbors, by local and national agencies, by municipalities, by industry and a great multitude of organizations throughout the country today is many times any appropriation yet proposed. The opening of the doors of the federal treasury is likely to stifle this giving and thus destroy far more resources than the proposed charity from the federal government.

"The basis of successful relief in national distress is to mobilize and organize the infinite number of agencies of self help in the community. That has been the American way of relieving distress among our own people and the country is successfully meeting its problem in the American way today.

"We have two entirely separate and distinct situations in the country; the first is the drought area; the second is the unemployment in our large industrial centers — for both of these appropriations attempt to make charitable contributions.

"Immediately upon the appearance of the drought last August, I convoked a meeting of the governors, the Red Cross and the railways, the bankers and other agencies in the county and laid the foundations of organization and the resources to stimulate every degree of self help to meet the situation which it was then obvious would develop. The result of this action was to attack the drought problem in a number of directions. The Red Cross established committees in every drought county, comprising the leading citizens of those counties, with instructions to them that they were to prevent starvation among their neighbors and, if the problem went beyond local resources, the Red Cross would support them.

"The organization has stretched throughout the area of suffering, the people are being cared for today through the hands and with sympathetic understanding and upon the responsibility of their neighbors who are being supported in turn by the fine spirit of mutual assistance of the American people. The Red Cross officials whose long devoted service and experience is unchallenged, inform me this morning that except for the minor incidents of any emergency organization, no one is going hungry and no one need go hungry or cold.

"To reinforce this work at the opening of congress I recommended large appropriations for loans to rehabilitate agriculture from the drought and provisions of further large sums for public works and construction in the drought territory which would give employment in further relief to the whole situation. These federal activities provide for an expenditure of upward of $100,000,000 in this area and it is in progress today.

"The Red Cross has always met the situations which it has undertaken. After careful survey and after actual experience of several months with their part of the problem they have announced firmly that they can command the resources with which to meet any call for human relief in prevention of hunger and suffering in drought areas and that they accept this responsibility.

"They have refused to accept federal appropriations as not being consonant either with the need or the character of their organization. The government departments have given and are giving them every assistance. We possibly need to strengthen the public health service in matters of sanitation and to strengthen the credit facilities of that area through the method approved by the government departments to divert some existing appropriations to strengthen agricultural credit corporations.

"In the matters of unemployment outside the drought areas important economic measures of mutual self help have been developed such as those to maintain wages, to distribute employment equitably, to increase construction work by industry, to increase federal construction work from a rate of about $275,000,000 a year prior to the depression to a rate now of over $750,000,000 a year; to expand state and municipal construction—all upon a scale never before provided or even attempted in any repression. But beyond this to assure that there shall be no suffering, in every town and county voluntary agencies in relief of distress have been strengthened and created and generous funds have been placed at their disposal. They are carrying on their work efficiently and sympathetically.

"But after and coincidently with voluntary relief, our American system requires that municipal, county and state governments shall use their own resources and credit before seeking such assistance from the federal treasury.

"I have, indeed, spent much of my life in fighting hardship and starvation both abroad and in the southern states. I do not feel that I should be charged with lack of human sympathy for those who suffer but I recall that in all the organizations with which I have been connected over these many years, the foundation has been to summon the maximum of self help. I am proud to have sought the help of congress in the past for nations who were so disorganized by war and anarchy that self help was impossible. But even these appropriations were but a tithe of that which was coincidently mobilized from the public charity of the United States and foreign countries. There is no such paralysis in the United States and I am confident that our people have the resources, the initiative, the courage, the stamina and kindliness of spirit to meet this situation in the way they have met their problems over generations.

"I will accredit to those who advocate federal charity a natural anxiety for the people of their states. I am willing to pledge myself that if the time should ever come that the voluntary agencies of the country together with the local and state governments are unable to find resources with which to prevent hunger and suffering in my country, I will ask the aid of every resource of the federal government because I would no more see starvation amongst our countrymen than would any senator or congressman. I have the faith in the American people that such a day will not come.

"The American people are doing their job today. They should be given a chance to show whether they wish to preserve the principles of individual and local responsibility and mutual self help before they embark on what I believe is a disastrous system. I feel sure they will succeed if given the opportunity.

"The whole business situation would be greatly strengthened by the prompt completion of the necessary legislation of this session of congress and thereby the unemployment problem would be lessened, the drought area indirectly benefitted and the resources of self help in the country strengthened."

TELLS ORIGIN OF WORDS IN CLUB SPEECH

The interesting origin of words which are commonly used by everyone, was told yesterday by Frank Lansdown in a talk at the regular meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club at Ketner's cafe. Mrs. Hazel Northcross presided, and the program chairman, Mrs. Minnie Mayhill, introduced the speaker.

Both tragic and humorous facts are involved in the origin of words, the speaker said, and a knowledge of these facts increases the appreciation of the traditions attached to them.

A list of imitative words included, hiccough, boom, hum, gurgle, giggle, hush and rattle. Words named after persons are macadam named after John McAdams, the originator of this type of paving, macintosh, named after a nobleman of that name, and boycott named after Col. B. Boycott.

An appeal to members brought the sum of $42 as a gift of the club to the Red Cross.

Announcement was made that the coming district board meeting would be held at Santa Paula, Feb. 14 and that members of the hostess club would open their homes to visiting club women who will attend the convention.

A report was given by Mrs. Northcross of the county council which met here last week.

L. A. PRODUCE

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 3.—(UP)—Trading was very sluggish today with liberal offerings in all lines of green vegetables and lower prices for several kinds.

Artichokes sold at about the same price, but the market tone was weak. Davenport stock brought $3.50-$4.00 a box for choice sizes with San Luis Obispo chokes selling at $3.75-$4.00 for sizes 48-60.

Local Fuerte avocados were still plentiful and dull at 18-20c a lb., with ripe stock around 15c.

Vencie celery also moved slowly at $1.00-$1.25 a crate, with hearts in lettuce crates at 75-$1.00. The best Chula Vista celery moved slowly at $2.50-$2.75 a crate.

Mexican eggplant was mostly of fair quality and brought 9-12c a lb., with Coachella valley stock at 10-12c. Grapefruit continued to move slowly at unchanged prices, fancy Imperial stock bringing $2.75-$3.00 a box, with locally packed fruit from the Imperial valley at $2.50-$.275.

Lettuce was in heavy supply and weak, especially dry pack stock. Iced 4-dozens jobbed at $1.75-$2.00 a crate, with 5-dozens at $1.50-$.175, while dry jack 4s sold at $.10-$.125.

A few local strawberries were sold at $10-$12 for 30-pint crates, with a few at $15. Local tangerines were very dull at 3-4c a lb., for medium size stock with smaller at 2-3c. Mexican Tomatoes held steady at 13-14c a bl., for stripped stock, with No. 1 originals selling at mostly $3.50 a lug for rail stock and mostly $3.25 for boat tomatoes.

Court Notes

The estate of John A. Swanner, whose death occurred last month, is valued at not in excess of $35,000 in the petition for letters of administration which was filed with County Clerk J. M. Backs today by Charles D. Swanner. The estate consists of residence property and household goods in Santa Ana and stock of the Southern California Edison company of the probable value of $30,000. Heirs are the widow, Mrs. Emma Swanner, a daughter, Irene Watters, of Santa Ana, and two sons, Charles Swanner of Santa Ana, and John L. Swanner, of Wichita Falls, Tex.

An appeal from a decision of Judge H. G. Ames of the Orange county superior court denying a motion for a new trial, has been denied by the fourth district court of appeals and the judgment affirmed, according to a remittur and opinion from the appellate court which was received today by County Clerk J. M. Backs. The appeal had been filed by A. W. Cleaver and the Sanitary Laundry from an award of $1950 damages by a jury after a trial of a damage action filed by Manuel Parra in behalf of his 16-months-old son, Jose Parra, who was injured by a laundry truck in Buena Park.

area was disrupted and the first reports of death and destruction received here came by ships radio. The Veronica and the steamer Northumberland reported the need of immediate medical assistance.

Doctors, nurses and supplies were rushed from Auckland aboard the British cruisers Dunedin and Diomede, capable of making 29 knots an hour.

Advices received here at 10:50 p. m. tonight, 24 hours after the first earth shock at Napier, were still meagre. Fires were reported still raging, as efforts to combat them with sea water and emergency pumps proved futile.

Buildings were being dynamited to check the spread of the flames.

Napier looked like a town subjected to a heavy bambardment, the reports said.

Difficulty was encountered in finding quarters for injured survivors. It was reported that one group of refugees had been taken aboard warships and would arrive here tomorrow.

Only communication with the town of Hastings was maintained through a small radio station, working on batteries.

Rescue parties searching the debris there discovered the body of a woman but were unable to extract it.

The weather was reported fine, and good order was maintained.

TRAPPER TRAPPED

BAYFIELD, Wis.—Martin Kane, trapper, went out to trap some wolves and got trapped himself. He smeared fish on his boots and tramped through the woods, intending to lure wolves into a trap, but not expecting them to pick up the scent for hours. He was without weapons and, consequently, when the wolves struck his trail within a short time after he set out, he was surprised. He had to take to a tree in which he spent 48 hours before aid came.

It is well-nigh impossible to measure the influence of the life of a man life Francis of Assisi upon art and poetry and upon the ideals of democracy and of peace. # KREG SPEAKER FORESEES SALT WATER DANGER

Pumping or flowing of water from wells near the seashore into duck ponds for the use of gun clubs in Orange county should not be permitted, Horace Head, Santa Ana attorney, declared in a speech over KREG last night. "Such use of water is not only wasteful but is a menace to the whole Santa Ana valley as it is bringing about a condition that will inevitably cause salt water to flow into our underground basin," he said.

"Those who are members of these gun clubs should voluntarily abandon them, stop up all of those wells which are flowing and cease to pump water from other wells for the filling of duck ponds. If they fail to do so they should be compelled by law to immediately cease doing this thing which is a menace to the thousands of inhabitants of the Santa Ana valley and to the many millions of dollars invested in orchards and other improvements.

"A Farm bureau committee made a detailed report to the grand jury on the matter after thorough investigation. The report was submitted to the jury in January, 1930, and the summary and conclusions of the report were as follows:

"'We find that approximately 1330 acres of land in Orange county are covered with duck ponds supplied with fresh water taken from the artesian strata, mainly by means of pumping plants, kept to a constant depth of from one to two feet during a period of from five to six months a year. The water is constantly flowing with greater or less velocity and is being wasted so far as the possibility of using it for productive purposes is concerned. The gun club properties are located in the lower portions of the valley, the waters flowing from one duck pond to the other and finally emptying into drainage ditches or directly into tide water. While this waste of water is going on at the lower end of the basin, wells in the upper portion are constantly failing, and water levels thereof getting lower and lower due to a large extent to the waste of water at the lower end of the basin.

"'We are satisfied that the time has come when Orange county must choose between the use of water for duck ponds and its use for maintaining orchards and growing crops. In our judgment there is no room in Orange county for any gun club which uses fresh water supplied from any source other than drainage ditches, sewer lines or other sources which will not deplete the underground basin.

"'Most of the members of the gun clubs are residents of Los Angeles county and have no property interests whatever in Orange county other than their gun club membership'."

In continuing his speech Head said that since the time that the report was read the water level in county wells has lowered 12 feet. He quoted competent water engineers who say that the water flowing from output sewers should not be used for duck ponds but should be processed in order to purify it.

Head continued saying, "For many years we have been drawing water out of the natural reservoir much faster that it has been replenished. The only means of replenishing the reservoir is by rainfall which is absorbed in the Santa Ana river bed.

"The only quick, sure way of preventing disastrous water shortage in Orange county is by immediately taking steps to stop waste of water. This can be done in several ways, by preventing any use of water other than for domestic, irrigation, manufacturing, or other productive purposes, by preventing the runoff and waste of storm waters during rainy seasons, by pumping surface waters from the lower portion of the valley back to the upper portion and getting it once more into the underground reservoir.

In concluding Head said that duck ponds are not beneficial in any way other than furnishing recreation for the members of the clubs and if the waste of water did not stop, the result would be the filling of the deeper levels of underground reservoir with salt water and the ruin of the whole valley. He quoted an excerpt from a report made to the state legislature by a state engineer to prove this contention.

Calvin Coolidge Says . . . . .

BY CALVIN COOLIDGE
Former President of the United States

NORTHAMPTON, Feb. 3.—The visit of Prime Minister Bennett of the Dominion of Canada to Washington emphasizes the friendly relations of two American nations. He reported to the press that he had no important business to transact with our government. There are no serious disputes between the two countries. Such diplomatic exchanges as are necessary are in the nature of communications between merchants who buy from and sell to each other. The great lakes and the St. Lawrence are common natural resources from which mutual advantages will be secured by future development.. The only indication of a frontier of three thousand miles between the United States and Canada is the places where exports and imports are supervised. Yet we are two separate people with a strong and distinct national spirit.

On recent years many delegates have come from foreign countries to study our industrial development. It might be profitable for an international delegation to study the manner in which two great and competing countries in North America maintain friendly relations without any fortifications or any armed forces at their borders. If such a secret could be discovered and applied it would be the greatest blessing that could be secured by many foreign people.

ASK BIDS ON SANTIAGO DAM CONSTRUCTION

A resolution authorizing the advertising for bids for the Santiago dam to be built at an approximate cost of $725,000 at the old fourth crossing was passed by members of the board of directors of the Serrano Water company and the John T. Carpenter Water company at a meeting in the Villa Park-El Modent district, last night. Willard Smith, president of the Serrano company presided.

Plans and specifications for the dam were presented by A. Kempkey, engineer for the two companies. Plans for the dam have been approved by the Californria state engineer, and as soon as bids are received and the contract awarded, work is expected to begin on the project, which is now under way after 20 years' effort.

The dam will be constructed at the fourth crossing, in conjunction with the Irvine company, and will result in a division of the Santiago creek waters between the three companies. It will be of the so-called "dirt and roll" type of construction and will be 1450 feet in length and have a width or thickness of 602 feet at the base tapering at the top to 10 feet. It will have a height of 130 feet, 110 feet of which will be above the base.

Checker Artist Can't Pass His Hat Here

Basil Case, self styled junior checker champion of these United States, may be just what he claims, but it doesn't mean anything to the Santa Ana city council.

Case wrote a letter to the council which was read last night, asking permission to play some of Birch park's crack players at the park some fine afternoon and then pass a hat for collection.

Ed Vegely, city clerk, was instructed to write Case a letter and tell him that he could match his wits against the parkites all he pleased, but there would be no passing of the hat.

Case said he could play as many as five persons at a time, blindfolded.

Indicative of the popularity of squash rackets in New York is the fact that 15 clubs now hold membership in the Squash Rackets Association, but only five comprised the club two years ago.

COLLEGE LEADER GIVES TALK HERE

Doctor Ross T. Campbell spoke last night at the United Presbyterian church on thes ubject of "The Fall." Dr. Campbell is president of Sterling college, Sterling, Kan. He answered the question—"Was it a fall up or a fall down?" by showing that none but a moral agent can fall. Hence it could only be a fall down. He then took up the difficulties many meet with in the study of "The Fall." He explained that the difficulty arises from the confusion of terms. Many confuse fore-ordination with fatalism and they confus- innocence with ignorance, he said.

"Adam and Eve were not created ignorant and God created them with original righteousness, sufficient to withstand the tempter, had they so desired." He explained that the Bible doctrine of fore-ordination was simply God fore-ordaining to permit us to sin and that the plea which Clarence Darrow made in defense of Leopold and Loeb—that it was fore-ordained that they should commit this crime—was nothing but a plea for fatalism.

Doctor Campbell will speak tonight on "The Virgin Birth of Christ." Doctor Campbell has been asked to hold a morning service and will speak each day at 10 a. m.

AUCTION SALE FOR RABBITS IS PROPOSED

The plan of holding auction sales of rabbits has aroused the interest of Orange county breeders, who see in the idea a convenient way to dispose of their animals.

San Bernardino rabbit men have appointed a committee to work out details and a report is expected soon. It is expected that daily or weekly auctions will be held in designated points in Orange, Los Angeles, San Bernardino and Riverside counties, with Santa Ana as the probable point for this district.

Buyers have expressed approval of the plan, believing that it will save them two to four cents per pound in the cost of collecting the meat.

San Bernardino rabbit authorities recently visited Tulare county, where they inspected a hog auction system which is declared to be a success there.

Under the proposed system, rabbit breeders would be notified of the time of auction and would have opportunity to have their rabbits graded by farm bureau experts.

REALTY LICENSE RULE IS DROPPED

Salesmen for realty firms in Santa Ana, in the future, will not be required to have city licenses in order to do business, according to a motion put through the city council last night after it had been supported by Stanley Goode, member of the council.

There is a city ordinance now in effect which requires all salesmen for realty firms to pay $3 per year for licenses. On a motion made by J. L. McBride, the board voted to amend the present city ordinance which requires salesmen to have licenses and the city attorney was instructed to make the changes.

Goode explained that automobile salesmen and other salesmen of the city were not required to have city licenses and that the status of real estate salesmen was no more than clerks in downtown stores selling their company's wares. This does not apply to brokers, however.

ENGINEERS TO STAGE FATHER AND SON MEET

With a complete program to explain the progress being made in public address systems and audio engineering, the Santa Ana High School Engineering club will hold its semi-annual fathers and sons banquet at 7 p. m. today in Ketner's cafe.

The next big project of the pioneer Saint club is to equip the high school auditorium with a public address system, and later to extend the facilities to the football field for broadcasting and for outdoor graduation ceremonies. With this in mind, the program committee arranged a program for the banquet about this phase of engineering.

J. Shriber, audio engineer of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, will be the principal speaker and will illustrate his talk with slides and pictures. All appliances of a public address system will be displayed at the banquet through the courtesy of Williams and Klentz of Santa Ana.

Fred Eley and Bill Friend are supervising the affair and following a brief business meeting, various members of the club will give talks. An election of new officers will be held and Paul Jacques, president and toastmaster, will turn over the gavel to the new executive.

MERCHANTS AID FOURTH STREET GUTTER REPAIR

In an announcement made today by Clyde Jenken, city engineer, it was revealed that the merchants and owners of property on Fourth street are paying for the material now being used in putting in the new gutters and leveling of the street to meet the gutters.

Jenken said that the merchants and property owners were co-operating whole heartedly in assisting the city in the project, which makes it possible for a fund of $5000 set aside by the city council for labor, to remain almost intact. This money can be spent exclusively for labor and so furnish work for a number of men, Jenken said.

The new gutters which will be waterproofed were put in because of puddles of dirty water that were almost continually in the street. The city is planning on taking care of the side streets at the first opportunity.

The entire city is being covered by eight men, who are repairing sidewalks and trimming trees. This work costs the property owners nothing and benefits everyone, Jenken said.

Father Wins Once More In Game to Block Matrimony

Maria Miramontes, 18-year-old Ensenada girl, is back in Santa Ana to get married.

With Macario Chaires, 19, of 916 Logan street, the girl was arrested at the marriage bureau here yesterday and is being held for investigation while the police department attempts to communicate with her father at Ensenada.

Maria was here several weeks ago for the purpose of getting married but was taken in charge by officers at the request of her parents and returned to Ensenada.

Sid Smithwick, assistant chief of police, announced today that he had received another letter from the girl's father stating that she was again on her way to Santa Ana and to intercept her. No word from him has been had since that time, however.

DANIEL BURKE DIES IN GAS FILLED ROOM

Daniel M. Burke, 64, chicken ranch owner of Stanton, was believed to have committed suicide early today in inhaling the gas fumes from a pipe leading to his gas kitchen stove.

The body was found at 9:30 a. m. by G. W. Ballinger, a neighbor, who two and a half hours earlier had seen Burke feeding his chickens in the pens. Burke had disconnected the gas pipe to the tsove, and his body was found lying on the kitchen floor, the head wrapped in bedclothing. There was no note found in the house.

Neighbors reported that as far as they knew Burke had nothing to be despondent over, and that he seemed in the best of spirits during the past severa idays. When Ballinger saw him early today he reported he saw nothing in the man that indicated despondency.

Burke formerly was a glass blower and was a member of the Glass Blowers' union. He had lived in Stanton for several years.

The body was taken to the Backs, Terry and Campbell Funeral parlors at Anaheim. There will be no inquest. Burke leaves a wife and two daughters in St. Louis, and efforts were being made today to communicate with them.

Nap Rucker, scout for the Brooklyn Robins and old-time mound ace, steered Catcher Al Lopez, Pitcher Babe Phelps, Outfielder Johnny Fredericks and several others who since have made good, into the Flatbush fold.

The girl was placed in the detention home and the boy in the county jail, where they are being held for Ventura officers, expected here today to return them—unmarried—to that city.

PAIN IN YOUR SHOULDER?
Use Tysmol for Relief

Knife-like jabs of pain in the vicinity of the shoulder blade are generally due to neuritis, brought on by exposure to draughts or sudden changes of weather. In some cases there is stiffness or soreness in the muscles, making it difficult to raise the arm.

The safest and easiest way to relieve such an attack is to apply a small quantity of Tysmol over the affected area. This soothing, healing preparation is quickly absorbed through the pores and carried to the throbbing, aching peripheral nerves. The pains usually stop at once, and in a very short time the last trace of soreness should disappear.

Tysmol is absolutely harmless—free from dope. Recommended for all forms of nerve pain, whether caused by neuritis, neuralgia, sciatica or rheumatism. Sold by leading druggists.

RECEIVE BIDS FOR WIDENING COUNTY ROADS

Bids were opened today by the board of supervisors in connection with widening West Seventeenth street between Huntington Beach boulevard and Serrano street, and for cement for this job and for the widening of Whitaker avenue east of Buena Park.

Prices for the West Seventeenth street work were submitted by eight contractors and the bids were referred to Nat Neff, county highway superintendent, for tabulation. He was requested by the board to report back at the afternoon session. Prices were received from B. W. Hicks, P. Cristich, H. E. Cox and Son, Kovacevich and Price, incorporated, Griffith company, J. H. Dudley, J. C. Rous jr., and Wells and Bressler.

Cement prices, which were submitted by five concerns, were all identical on 10,500 barrel lots, which is the amount required for the Whitaker avenue job. On the West Seventeenth street job there was one firm which submitted a slightly higher price on the smaller quantity required, or 7500 barrels. Prices on the 10,500 barrel lot, f.o.b Buena Park, were $2.60 per barrel in cloth sacks, and $2.24 per barrel in paper sacks. The same prices prevailed on the 7000 barrel lot with the exception of the bid submitted by the California Portland Cement company, whose price was $2.70 in cloth sacks and $2.34 in paper sacks for the smaller quantity. Other bidders on the cement were Monolith Portland Cement company, Blue Diamond corporation, Riverside Cement company and Southwestern Portland Cement company.

Cement prices were submitted to the county purchasing department for tabulation and report.

LAGUNA BEACH, TUSTIN SCHOOL SIGN CONTRACT

Signing of contract which states conditions of the withdrawal of the Laguna grammar school from the Tustin union high school district was agreed on last night when members of the board of the high school and the grammar school met at Tustin. Superintendent of Schools Ray Adkinson, Principal J. M. Means of the high school and Attorney William F. Menton from the district attorney's office also were present.

Under the terms of the agreement, which amends a previous one, the Tustin union high school district is to assume all of the school indebtedness in the event of the withdrawal of the Laguna district under two sets of circumstances. The first is that the Laguna district shall vote bonds to erect its own four-year high school; the other is the alternative of making the Laguna district a part of some other district and taking on the share of the indebtedness of such district.

It is also agreed that for a period not to exceed two years after final withdrawal of Laguna district, it shall pay to the Tustin Union district a pro rata share for Laguna students continuing to attend the Tustin high school, or until students are otherwise provided for.

In the discussion, which was amicable throughout, it was conceded by both boards that the two year period would probably take care of all students after withdrawal. Transportation would be furnished by the Tustin high school during this period.

The Tustin Union High school board passed a resolution by which it agrees to the separation of the Laguna district, this becoming effective upon the Laguna board signing this agreement. A special meeting was called this morning for this purpose.

Questions regarding further effort in getting signatures, date of the separation, steps to be taken in the formation of the new district, and other problems which must be met in establishing a high school here, were touched on. The high school board made plans for carrying into full effect its promise to secure signatures necessary to supplement those secured in Laguna. Though the number of signers to the petition had been considered sufficient, it was discovered that more are needed. The two-thirds required in Laguna are now on the petition, it was stated by G. E. Thompson, clerk of the board. A. R. Burns, member of the Laguna board was present, as was also George Walter, who has been active in securing signatures here.

EXISTENCE OF CHRIST TOPIC OF MINISTER

The question of the existence of Christ and His divinity was discussed for members of the congregation of the Christian Spiritualist Science church Sunday night by the Rev. Paul Andres in his sermon on the query "Is Christ a Fiction?" The text, "Who do men say that I, the son of man, am?" was taken from Matthew 16:13. The pastor said in part:

"I will confess to you, that the majesty of the Scriptures strikes me with admiration, as the purity of the gospel has its influence on my heart. Peruse the words of our philosophers, with all their pomp of diction—how mean, how contemptible are they, compared with the Scriptures. Is it possible that a book, at once so simple and so sublime, should be merely the work of man?

"What sweetness, what purity in his manner; what an affecting gracefulness in his instruction! What sublimity in his maxims! What profound wisdom in his discourse! What presence of mind, what subtlety, what fitness, in his replies! How great the command over his passions. Where is the man, where the philosopher, who could so live and so suffer, without weakness, and without ostentation?

"But where could the Master learn, among His contemporaries, that pure and sublime morality of which He only had given us both precept and example? The greatest wisdom was made known among the most bigoted fanaticism; and the simplicity of the most heroic virtues did honor to the vilest people on earth.

"I maintain that this is a character wholly remote from human conception. To imagine it to be the production of imposture or enthusiasm, shows a strange unsoundness of mind. I contemplate it with a veneration second only to the profound awe with which I look up to God. It bears no mark of human invention. It was real. It belonged to, and it manifested the Master of men.

"Here I pause; and indeed I know not what can be added to heighten that wonder, reverence and love, which are due to Jesus. When I consider Him, not only as possessed with the consciousness of an unexampled and unbounded majesty, but as recognizing a kindred nature in human beings, and living and suffering to raise them to a participation of His divine glories; and when I see Him, under these views, allying Himself to men by the tenderest ties, embracing them with a spirit of humanity, which no insult, injury or pain could for a moment repel or overpower, I am filled with wonder as well as reverence and love. I feel that this character is not of human invention; that it was not assumed through fraud, or struck out by enthusiasm, for it is infinitely above their reach.

"When I add this character of the Master to the other evidence of His religion, it gives, to what before seemed so strong, a new and a vast accession of strength. I feel as if I could not be deceived. The Gospels must be true; they were drawn from a living original; they were founded on reality. The character of the Master is not a fiction; He was what He claimed to be, and what His followers attested.

"Nor is this all. He exists now; He has entered that heaven to which He always looked forward on earth. There He lives and reigns. With a clear, calm faith, I see Him in that state of glory, and I confidently expect, at no distant period, to see Him face to face.

"We have, indeed, no absent friend whom we shall so surely meet. Let us, then, by imitation of His virtues and obedience to His word, prepare ourselves to join Him in those pure mansions, where He is surrounding Himself with the good and pure of humanity, and will communicate to them forever His own spirit, power and joy."

The company sued for $200,000 because of injury to its reputation.

Alicia Baird Is Given Dismissal

Miss Baird is alleged to have left the Court Apartments on First street without paying her rent, which led to her arrest.

ASKS WHO WAS TO BLAME FOR JESUS' DEATH

The theme of Evangelist Read W. Stearman, who is holding meetings at the Full Gospel Assembly, at the service Sunday was "Wwho Killed Jesus?" Taking his text from John 19:30, he spoke in part as follows:

"Not as a doctrinal point but to invite your attention to this thought, just who was responsible for the death of Jesus? Was it the Jews who actually nailed Him to the cross? Was it the Roman soldiers who pierced His side while He hung on the cross? Was it Pilate who gave the testimony concerning Jesus that there was no fault in Him and then turned Him over to the priests and soldiers? I believe that the last part of the verse of John 19:30 answers the question. In spite of the fact that tradition says that it was society who killed Jesus, 'Jesus gave up the ghost,' and said 'It is finished'.

The evangelist took his audience for an imaginary investigation of the death and trial of Jesus. He explained in conclusion that there were four different classes of people at the trial whose class are still in existence today. First, those for Christ or the disciples; second, neutral, or the Roman soldiers; third, those against Him, or the Jews; fourth, the curious, or the on-lookers.

Some of the subjects for this week are "The Most Peculiar Man in Town," "A Vision That Changed My Life," "Is Healing for Today?" "Did You Miss the Mark?" "A Drink That Quenches—But not Water," "What Does it Mean to Be on Fire for God?"

Harry Mackey, mayor of Philadelphia, was captain of the first University of Pennsylvania football team that defeated Cornell in 1893 by a score of 50 to 0.

SACRAMENT OF LORD'S SUPPER OBSERVED HERE

The sacrament of the Lord's Supper was observed at the Church of the Nazarene Sunday morning. The service was in charge of the pastor, the Rev. U. E. Harding, who was assisted by the Rev. R. E. Gilmore, the Rev. F. R. Cline, the Rev. Geo. Henson, and the Rev. Hugh C. Benner. Preceding the communion service, Mrs. U. E. Harding, soprano, sang "The Old Rugged Cross," (Barnard). The offertory was played by Joseph Sturgis, Pasadena trombonist.

"Singing, Yet Suffering," was the theme of the morning sermon delivered by the pastor. "And when they had sung an hymn, they went out," Matt. 26:30, was the scripture text. "Many are to be found singing," said the Rev. Mr. Harding, "when everything is lovely and favorable, but it is another matter to have songs on your lips in the face of severe suffering. Jesus and His disciples, at that most sacred Last Supper, were facing the battle of the ages. Every reason for discouragement and sadness was theirs, for in their very midst was the betrayer, and just ahead was Gethsemane and Calvary. But in that hour of heaviness, before they left the supper room, 'they had sung an hymn.'"

"Of the one hundred and fifty Psalms, more than ninety allude to suffering. While these beautiful, inspired writings are filled with praise, they are songs of praise in the midst of suffering. We hear people say that they always pray in the midst of difficulties and trials, but a song from the heart may easily be turned into a prayer, and a prayer into a song of praise.

"The greatest of the hymns of the Christian faith and church have been pressed out of hearts, weary and torn by the trials of life. We need a revival of heartfelt singing of the old hymns. We need to revive the old custom of singing them around our tables and at our family devotions. In them is the experience of saints of all ages. They are based upon the great and fundamental facts of spiritual life and achievement. In them is found something to meet every time of need. For courage, for warning, for rejoicing, in sorrow or suffering, let us turn to the old hymns, for today, as in the centuries past, God can give grace to help us that in the hour of trial we may know the joy of victorious song."

LEISURE TIME DISCUSSED IN CHURCH TALK

"As individuals we have the ballot but we lack the courage to face and help solve our national problems," Ray Adkinson, superintendent of schools for Orange county, said Sunday evening at the Methodist Episcopal church in Yorba Linda.

Lack of any real home life was partly blamed for the attitude of the younger generation, the speaker pointed out, that while we have the machine age it has not meant more time for either parents or children to spend at leisure in the home, but instead, gives them more time away from home.

"It is impossible to do away with the fact that the machine age is here and we must face it," said the speaker, "but the only salvation for our children is to find some way parents and children can come together for their leisure time.

"Children are taught by the example of their elders, and the problem of youth in crime today is not the problem of youth, but of the adult. Big communities offer more chance for crime than small ones and parents should keep a close watch on the leisure time of their children."

GOLDEN TROCO

Natural Golden Color Ready-to-Serve

Vegetable-Nut Margarine

Originated by Durkee

Golden Troco was presented to you as California's only Natural Golden Color Ready-to-Serve Margarine by permission which the court granted Durkee Famous Foods under a temporary injunction.

Now, due to dissolving of this temporary order, we cannot make or sell this new-type Margarine pending decision by the courts. Accordingly, Golden Troco has been recalled from all California grocers.

Golden Troco is a product of home industry. It is a purely vegetable spread for bread, originated by Durkee after months of research seeking the final perfection for Margarine. Golden Troco is made golden by nature — no artificial coloring is added in manufacture, and it is ready to serve as it comes from the package. The wholesome, pure vegetable-nut products of which it is made have the approval of food authorities everywhere. It is sold in practically all other states. Hundreds of thousands of California home-makers have approved Golden Troco during the past few weeks.

Late News From Orange And Nearby Towns

PAST HISTORY RECALLED BY WOMAN'S CLUB

ORANGE, Feb. 3.—Nearly 200 clubwomen of this city and their guests shared an afternoon yesterday, when the hands of time's clock were turned backward and the past became the present, as they reviewed the many interesting events which have transpired since the Woman's club was organized here Feb. 1, 1915.

The event was held in the Orange Woman's clubhouse and luncheon was served at 1 o'clock at tables at which 12 were seated. A hostess presided at each table and decorations reflected the coming of spring, fragile blossoms in delicate tints carrying out an effective motif.

Mrs. Leon Des Larzes, president of the club, presided at the affair and introduced each past president.

As the club history was traced it was revealed that the first president had been Mrs. R. Lea Collins, 1915-16; the next, Mrs. D. C. Pixley, 1916-17; Mrs. William Marsh, 1917-18; Miss Sue Scarritt, 1918-20; Mrs. A. D. Bishop, 1920-21; Mrs. Donald Smiley, 1921-22; Mrs. L. P. Damewood, 1922-24; Mrs. Clyde Watson, 1924-25; Mrs. J. F. Keller, 1925-26; Mrs. A. H. Halleck, 1926-27; Mrs. C. C. Bonebrake, 1927-28, and Mrs. Leon Des Larzes, 1928-31.

Many of those present were attired in costumes of a by-gone day and the staid seventies and the gay nineties mingled with the few gowns of the present and those of periods of the Civil war.

The Haywire orchestra of eight clubwomen dressed as farmers of a past age, furnished music during the luncheon hour. Following the introduction of the past presidents, a play, "Hetty's Valentine," was presented, with Mrs. Donald Smiley as director. Included in the cast were Mrs. Clyde Watson, Mrs. Trafford Watson, Mrs. E. P. Ehlen and Mrs. Clyde Slater and Mrs. C. O. Powell.

Mrs. C. C. Bonebrake had charge of the part of the program which had as its theme, "Do You Remember?" Times when picnics were attended on bicycles were recalled by conversation carried on between Mrs. A. H. Halleck and Miss Sue Scarritt. Those taking part included Mesdames Walter Kogler, J. U. Viau, Arch Burkett, George Seba, W. T. Syester, Hazel Summers, Alfred Higgins, David Wettlin, Madeline Stamps, C. E. Smiley and C. C. Bonebrake. Mrs. Jess Coe acted as acompanist.

An interesting part of the program was the appearance of two members of the Peake family, Mrs. C. O. Powell and Mrs. W. H. Johnson.

RILEY'S POEMS WILL BE HEARD ON AIR TONIGHT

Estelle Card Beeman will read "Treasured Poems of Heart and Home" over KREG from 7:30 to 8 p. m. today. She will read a number of James Whitcomb Riley's poems, including "Griggsby Station," "Out to Old Aunt Mary's" and "Goodbye, Jim, Take Keer o' Yourself."

"James Whitcomb Riley, the Hoosier poet, has not only written poems for children, but he has written a great many poems which touch the hearts of the older people," said Mrs. Beeman today.

"The Riley kind of speech was the speech of human sympathy. He was so full of it that it mastered him and made him write it out in poetry.

"That is why we have such poems as 'Griggsby Station,' 'The Old Swimmin' Hole,' 'Nothin' to Say, My Daughter,' 'Lockerbie Street,' 'Knee Deep In June,' 'Out to Old Aunt Mary's,' 'An Old Sweetheart of Mine,' 'Goodbye Jim, Take Keer o' Yourself,' and many others.

"Edwin Holt Hughes paid a very high compliment to James Whitcomb Riley when he said:

"'The pickets on the Indiana state line halt every newcomer and demand the countersign. If he whispers "Riley," they let him in; if not, they deem him a hopeless alien and send him away because he has not the proper papers of Indiana naturalization.'"

Asks: What Is ACNE?
Big Ugly PIMPLES

Yes! That's the simple answer, but Acne is more than just a big pimple—better to call it a big stubborn pimple.

That's why you must fight this obstinate skin disease with something powerful enough to kill it and swiftly get the unsightly thing off the skin.

So we advise all who are so unfortunate as to have Acne to get rid of it at once and for all by using Emerald Oil, a powerful, healing, antiseptic oil that no case of Acne, Pimples or Eczema can withstand.

And those itchy toes that get raw and sore—the germs that cause it are killed by Emerald Oil. Don't waste time with weak washes—Emerald Oil is guaranteed by druggists everywhere to rid you of stubborn unsightly skin troubles or money back—an 85 cent bottle lasts 2 weeks.—Adv.

KREG PROGRAM BY CHILDREN GIVEN PRAISE

BY THE RADIO EDITOR

A mother who enjoys the children's hour, with Lorene Croddy, presented each Monday, Wednesday and Friday over KREG, and who wrote to the radio station to tell of her appreciation, made a suggestion which should be of interest to parents and children everywhere, whether they sing for radio audiences or otherwise.

After telling of her enjoyment of the children's hour, the writer, Mrs. Vera Gwilliam, 808 South Parton street, said:

"However, may I be permitted this one suggestion? I am only one of many mothers listening in who would enjoy hearing the children play something besides popular music.

"It seems to me our children should be taught to appreciate finer and better music. Better music grows on one. It isn't just 'a thing here today and gone tomorrow,' put is something lasting."

Mrs. Gwilliam expressed the policy of those who are directing the Santa Ana radio station, who are striving to give the public the best type of entertainment possible.

Parents, in many cases, are realizing that certain types of music and entertainment are especially adapted to presentation by children. They realize that both the children and those who listen in reap more lasting pleasure and benefit from the latter type of program than from the kind that often is beyond the comprehension of the children giving it.

That is why KREG is striving to secure for its listeners this high type of program which is being developed in the children's hour.

Program For Junior Hour Is Revealed

Songs, tap dances, readings, harmonica, piano and steel guitar music will be presented on the KREG children's hour tomorrow from 5:30 to 6 p. m., with Lorene Croddy as director. A group of junior artists from five to 13 years of age will entertain.

Songs will be presented by Dorothy Barnard, 10, and Valerie Snow, 13. Readings will be given by Eva Mae Bogg, 5, and Ruth Mary Reichstein, 11.

Phyllis Snow, 10, will present tap dances. Ralph Gill, 12, will play harmonica solos. Billy Detrix, 8, will play piano solos, and Eugene Boggs, 11, will play the steel guitar.

A Continued Story of Safety

Each month through its voluntarily published Statement, Pacific States Savings presents the latest chapter in a history of safety which has been without flaw since 1889.

The above Statement is the latest chapter. In it, the discerning saver will note our continued freedom from bank indebtedness, the scrupulous conservation of our earnings, and the rigid maintenance of our voluntary cash and bond reserves.

It is because of these elements of strength that, while encouraging the placement of funds here on an investment basis, we have long been able to meet customers' emergency needs for funds in full and without notice.

In keeping with these voluntary protective measures is the conservatism of our loan practice. Through our low loan rate we secure the highest type of real estate loan collateral available in our field. How well this policy has succeeded is evidenced by this fact: with an average of 13,602 monthly payment real estate loans outstanding during the last seven months, we have received an average of 12,992 monthly loan payments, or 95½% within 10 days of due date.

Upon the basis of time-proved protection, plus the attractiveness of 6% or 5¼% interest, we solicit the guardianship of your savings.

In the early 90's in San Francisco a copy boy named Jack Curley was promoted to a job as police reporter on the Chronicle.

He was "a romancer" then. The charm that was San Francisco's in those days caught and held him. In the harbor were square-rigged ships. Horse cars labored up the hills. The streets seethed with color. Adventurers were everywhere. There were gas-lighted theaters and small fight clubs. Men lived in a daring way.

But it was because Curley was a romancer that he was fired as a police reporter and a few days after he had been given the job. A former Chronicle reporter met him one night on the streets, told him a fantastic dream and Curley rushed to print with it. It sounded good but was without foundation.

The other night a new record for crowds at Madison Square Garden was set when 22,000 people jammed the building for a wrestling match. The match was promoted by Jack Curley. He is a romancer still.

Curley, referred to often as the owner of "the pachyderm farm" on Long Island, manager of a string of wrestlers that show their wares from coast to coast, he has come up through adventurings that would fill a book. A book? At his home he has more than 60 scrapbooks filled with newspaper clippings that form a history of the growth of certain sports in America. He has been everywhere, apparently, and seen everything.

Jack's parents were Alsatians. Five years before he was born they fled Alsace to escape reprisals following the Franco-Prussian war. He was born at San Francisco July 4, 1876.

He has known hunger, tramped the streets, slept in alleys—and given Caruso $10,000 a night to sing in six cities.

At 13 he was a pupil at a school in the Vosges, his parents having returned to Europe, disappointed with the America of that period. And at 18 he obtained an exclusive interview with Eugene V. Debs concerning the strike that followed the boom of the World's Fair in Chicago.

He washed dishes, wrote on space, seconded fighters.

In 1903 he was riding about Chicago's streets in a Pope-Toledo, with the entrance in the rear, and with an ex-fighter as a chauffeur. He traveled in seven countries seeking a place where they would let him hold the Johnson-Willard fight, and had to cross the ocean three times to sign up the fighters.

Romancing? Curley has done a little of it!

For years he has good-naturedly been the brunt of newspaper jokes poked at the wrestling fraternity. He has promoted all sorts of things, from flea circuses to concerts by the Vatican choir, but Curley, eminently, stands for wrestling.

And during the years when wrestling was in disrepute, his wrestlers still went over with a bang in the smaller towns.

At 55 Curley is in almost as good condition as any of his grapplers. He never has taken a drink or smoked a cigaret!

After two showings in New York, Max Baer, California's big, good looking heavyweight, is as much an enigma to Eastern fight experts today as when he came here six weeks ago to prove that he is real topnotch material.

In his two appearances at Madison Square Garden, the black-haired Jewish boy met Ernie Schaaf of Boston, a capable, experienced boxer, to whom he dropped a close 10-round decision, and Tom Heeney of New Zealand, whom he knocked out in the third round of the "Battle of the Short Count"—one of the worst fiascos ever seen at the Garden.

Paradoxically, Baer made a bigger hit with the boxing experts and the fans in the fight which he lost than in the Heeney bout which he won.

Against Schaaf, Baer showed he is a pretty lusty hitter, that he can "take it," but that he does not know how to pace himself and is very green on defense. One of Max's faults is he doesn't mind taking a punch on the chin. If he doesn't learn more about the art of protecting himself he will wind up as a punch-drunk fighter.

BRITISH PILOT HITS 240-MILE GAIT IN TRIAL

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., 3.—Because of poor visibility and strong northwest winds, Captain Campbell announced today that he would make only exhibition runs this afternoon. The runs will be timed.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 3.—Declaring the performance of his super-car in practice spins to be "absolutely topping," Captain Malcolm Campbell, British racing motorist, was ready today for his first official attempt to shatter the world's automobile record of 231 miles an hour.

Campbell, to the amazement of race enthusiasts, has driven his powerful 1450 horsepower Bluebird at the terrific unofficial speed of 200 miles and 240 miles an hour, respectively, in two practice spins within the last three days. The first trial was made Saturday, the second yesterday. In the latter test, the tachometer on Campbell's car registered a motor speed of 3200 revolutions a minute.

He electrified the spectators as he streaked down the smooth stretch of sandy beach at a dizzy clip. It was "here he comes, there he goes." His low-slung car, twice as long as the average automobile and blue in color, with the stars and stripes and British union jack painted on its hood, leaped and roared down on the course once he had stepped on the gas.

However, Captain Campbell attained the speed of 240 miles an hour only momentarily. When he makes his official run he will be clocked over a measured mile in the dead center of the nine-mile course. He will have to make two runs, one in a southerly, the other in a northerly direction. The time of the measured mile, in both directions, will be taken and averaged. This means he will have to maintain a terrific high speed across the measured mile—and not merely touch a mark in excess of the late Sir Henry Segrave's record of 231.3 miles an hour.

ITALY, HUNGARY TO ENTER '32 OLYMPICS

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Feb. 3.—Italy and Hungary have signified their intention of participating in the Olympia winter games of 1932, according to cables received here from Bjorn Blix, international secretary, now touring Europe.

Italy will send 12 skiiers and three group leaders, a hockey team, five bobsled racers, one man and one woman figure skaters, one skating couple and two leaders for the latter groups.

Hungary will be represented by two group leaders, two skiiers two or three skating pairs and one man figure skater.

GODFREY TURNS WRESTLER

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 24.—Georgs Godfrey, known variously as the Negro heavyweight champion, the "Black Menace" and Jack Dempsey's one time nemesis, has forsaken boxing for wrestling. Godfrey makes his debut as a grappler here tonight against Jack Russell, also an American.

Reboin Still Saint; Fails To Graduate

Failing by a fraction of a credit to graduate in mid-year, Al Reboin, brilliant all-around athlete and object of attention from representatives of almost every college on the coast, was still a student at Santa Ana high school today.

Reboin plans to finish the year here, make up lost credentials and enter Santa Ana junior college or some four-year institution in September.

Harold Pangle, Saint football star, is in the same boat with Reboin. He did not graduate either and is still a high school student.

Hideo Higashi, All-Coast Preparatory league end, plans to register at Santa Ana jaycee next semester. He received his Saint diploma last week.

MRS. MOODY TO SEEK U. S. NET CHAMPIONSHIP

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3.—(UP)—Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, world's tennis queen, will attempt to regain the national title at Forest Hills this year, it was learned today.

She may not, however, go abroad to defend her British title at Wimbledon.

"I am not certain that I can stay away from home long enough to go abroad this year," Mrs. Moody said. "Such a trip requires four or five months."

Final decision on the entrance in the Wimbledon tournament may not be made before April, she indicated.

LA BARBA, VARNER CLASH AT OLYMPIC

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 3.—Fidel La Barba, former flyweight champion, who now parades in the featherweight ranks, meets Claude Varner of Bakersfield in a 10-round main event at the Olympic auditorium tonight.

Immediately after the fight, La Barba leaves for New York where he faces Kid Francis, rugged Italian, in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden, February 20.

CHARGE SCHMELING HIT 120-POUND BOY

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Max Schmeling, heavyweight boxing champion of the world, either beat up a process server so badly the latter required medical treatment, or he merely led an unknown young man to two doormen at Hotel Commodore who ejected him.

James Rahl, 18, weight 120, says Maxie hurled him down a flight of stairs when he attempted to serve him with a summons. Rahl claims to be under treatment for injuries received.

Cerebral concussion, a fracture of the nasal bone, contusions, torn ligaments, sprains and bruises, not to mention injured feelings, were among the injuries reported at his home, where his father says that after "the assault charge is disposed of there'll be civil suits."

Schmeling, according to his manager, Joe Jacobs, didn't do any such thing as claimed by Rahl.

BROWN'S OFFER PLEASES YOUNG GROVE PITCHER

Big George Blaeholder of Garden Grove, baseball's most violent holdout of 1930, signed his 1931 contract today without a single word of argument with his bosses.

Calling for a substantial increase in salary, Blaeholder's parchment was on its way back to the business offices of the St. Louis Browns for whom Blaeholder has done a lot of fine pitching in recent years.

The pay boost pleased Blaeholder considerably for it was totally unexpected, and he showed his gratitude by immediately signing on the well known dotted line.

The big pitcher was so jubilant that he immediately announced he was out to win 25 ball games for the Browns this year. He won about 14 last season with a club that was never near the front flight.

Blaeholder held out for a $7500 contract until after the pennant race had begun and naturally was slow rounding into condition after he did report with a compromise figure on his paper. He never did get into shape until well along in the summer and then he turned in some marvelous games, stopping the world's champion Athletics with four hits once and six hits a few days later. The Yanks also have often been Blaeholder's meat. Peculiarly enough he has seemed more effective against the topnotch clubs than the lower ranking outfits.

Blaeholder does not intend to report out of condition this year. He says he will leave here next Tuesday. He and his wife will motor to Tulsa, Okla., Mrs. Blaeholder's former home, and from there the pitcher will travel by train to West Palm Beach, Fla., training camp of the Browns.

Jimmy Austin, veteran scout of the club, the man who "discovered" Blaeholder on the Orange county sandlots, will leave Laguna Beach February 16. One of Austin's annual assignments is to open the St. Louis training camp in Florida.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Joe Widener, the horseman, and John Ringling, the circus magnate, have gone in for paintings in a big way. . . . Ringling has spent millions on his art museum at Sarasota, Fla., where some famous Rubens works are housed. . . . Three pieces cost Widener more than $1,000,000. . . . He paid $500,000 for two Rembrandts . . . and $600,000 for a tapestry by Mazarin. . . . Widener and Ringling are winter neighbors. . . . Widener is at Miami where he heads the Hialeah Racing association . . . and the Ringling circus quarters are at Sarasota. . . . Ringling may or may not be found at his Venetian palace, his art museum, his dingy offices over the bank or the "cat house," as circus men call the apartments where dwell members of the ferocious feline family which includes lions, tigers, etc.

A MASKED MARVEL

Things are rapidly reaching a stage of prosperity in the bone-crunching industry. Wrestlers have been rescued from the bread line. And isn't it almost time for a Masked Marvel to appear?

In days of old, these Masked Marvels often were planted in the audience, and arose at a dramatic moment to challenge the winner. To make it interesting sometimes no attention was paid to the challenges of the Masked Marvels until they had made their appearance at several wrestling shows, demanding a chance. Finally the fans would scream for a match between the Masked Marvel and another grunter.

* * *

THE BUILD-UP

The Marvel usually would throw the grunter easily, would be matched with other grunters and throw them. Finally the populace would demand a match with the champion. The Masked Marvel would be thrown for a couple of goals, the de-masking would ensue and the fans would discover that some palooka with a stocking pulled down over his head had made saps of them.

That is, providing the wrestling fan hadn't realized long before then that he was a sap to begin with. Twenty-two thousand people, a record crowd, saw a recent wrestling show in Madison Square Garden, and probably all of them (who paid) were fully cognizant they were endowing a theatrical enterprise. If you were to call any of them saps they would probably cheerfully admit it. But they would also tell you they liked the show, and were only buying what they liked to see. The wrestling sap is the most cheerful of them all.

FOR THE FUN OF IT

Besides getting the thrills of seeing a man thrown out of a ring and witnessing the Notre Dame tackle at close range, the wrestling sap gets a lot of comedy out of the pachyderms. Some fine slapstick is presented in the grunts and groans of discomfort emitted by the big fellows, and the bull-like bellows of rage that resound after an opponent has escaped one of those crunching holds.

Fifteen years ago, a gent named Demetrius Tofalos, who won the weight-lifting in the Athens Olympic of 1906, used to specialize in seizing an opponent's wrist and holding it to the mat while his man, and such comedians as La Coand heaved in the effort to break the hold.

In that same era there were Linow, the big fellow from Russia who trumpeted like an elephant when in the clutches of his foeman, and such comedians as La Colosse, the Frenchman who giggled or shrieked when tickled by his adversary.

You will see more of them coming along soon, now that the wrestlers are on their feet again. The comedy these big fellows furnish is one of the chief reasons why the wrestling sap is that way.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Bob Johnson, fly-chaser from Portland purchased by Connie Mack, is half Indian. . . . His brother Roy, the Detroit outfielder, is half Indian, too. . . . So that makes one entire Indian in the majors. . . . You'd think there really were more Indians that that in the big leagues if you could see some of the boys playing bean-bag down on the corner some of those evenings. . . . Oh, yes, Chief Bender, coach of the Giant pitchers, is an Indian, too. . . . He got his name throwing a Bender, not going on one. . . . Chief Myers, the old Giant catcher, was Injun, also . . . and if they had been using the lively ball in the majors in his day Myers would be slaying pale-faced third basemen by the score. . . . He had a way of knocking a close, fast one through the third-sacker's ribs.

TUSTIN BEATS FULLERTON ON COURT, 31-17

With several of the Indian regulars out of harness on account of illness, Coach Bill Cole's powerful Tustin high school basketball quintet had no difficulty disposing of Fullerton, 31 to 17, in a practice game yesterday.

The Farmers piled up a 23-7 lead at half-time and Cole utilized the opportunity to give many of his reserves a workout in the last two periods.

Tustin draws Orange, an ancient athletic adversary, as its Orange league opposition this Friday and the Fullerton affair was intended as a final brushup for it. Thiery, Wetzel and Lawrence did most of the Farmer point-making. Wetzel, a guard, played good basketball at his new position. He may start there in the Orange encounter.

Tustin is now four up and four to go in the pennant scramble. The Farmers have taken Excelsior, San Juan Capistrano, Garden Grove and Newport Harbor. They still meet in order, Orange, Anaheim, Huntington Beach and Brea-Olinda, the toughest teams in the conference.

The lineup:

| Tustin (31) | | (17) Fullerton |
|---|---|---|
| Thiery (7) | F | (2) Remo |
| Wetzel (8) | F | (7) Butcher |
| Spangler | C | Bowker |
| Holmes | G | (2) Chambers |
| Ritner (4) | G | (1) Welin |

Substitutions
Tustin—Crafts (3), Staples, Carlson, Farnsworth, Lawrence (9).
Fullerton—Pryor (5).

Penn Plans Reforms In Football

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 3.—One of the most sweeping reforms ever offered in college sports will be inaugurated at the University of Pennsylvania, according to plans listed today in a report of Dr. Thomas Gates, president of the university.

Here are the high lights of the reorganization:

1—Coaches become faculty members, to be paid salaries no greater than those paid other instructors. This compensation probably will not exceed $3000 a year.

2—Spring and pre-season practice, trips to seaport and resort towns, use of the training house, are all abolished.

TILDEN RETINUE TO TOUR COAST DURING SPRING

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3.—"Big Bill" Tilden probably will appear on several California courts this spring as part of his debut as a professional tennis player.

This was announced today by William M. ("Little Bill") Johnston as he prepared to leave for the east where he will attend the annual meeting of the United States Lawn Tennis association.

Tentative plans for appearanec of Tilden and troupe, which includes Karl Kozeluh, national professional champion, call for an exhibition at the California Tennis club, San Francisco, and another at Berkeley Tennis club, the matches to be held on succeeding days, probably late in March.

With the possibility of the pro troupe coming to the coast, it was announced that the annual Pacific Coast professional tournament had been postponed in the hope that the Tilden crew might adjust its schedule so as to appear in that event. The tourney had been scheduled for this week-end on the Hotel Huntington courts, Pasadena.

After the California matches, Tilden plans to call a temporary halt on tennis barnsstorming at Hollywood and complete two motion pictures.

As president of the Northern California Tennis association, Johnston agreed to act as emissary in fixing the dates for the San Francisco and Berkeley appearances.

S. A. TEAMS TO PLAY GLENDALE IN BASKETBALL

Santa Ana's dreary basketball season, one week nearer completion, will be brightened somewhat Friday night by the appearance in Andrews gymnasium of one of the Coast Preparatory league's outstanding teams—Glendale high school.

Beaten only by Woodrow Wilson, the Dynamiters will come here every inch a contender for the interscholastic championship. Bill Cook's Saints, riddled by mid-year graduations and ineligibilities, are conceded no chance of menacing Glendale's aspirations but the clever coach may generate enough teamwork from his hastily assembled reserve list to give the invaders a little competition.

The Cookmen lost seven men for one reason or another this week.

Santa Ana's Dons, champion last minute losers of the universe, are hard at work preparing for their invasion of Glendale which will take place either Friday or Saturday night. This game is scheduled for Saturday but Coach Bill Foote of the Santa Ana jaycees wants to set it ahead a night.

Los Angeles and Pasadena are leading the college conference now, the Cubs having virtually eliminated Long Beach as a contender last week. Los Angeles beat the Vikings, 28-21. Pasadena kept in stride by defeating Glendale, 42-39. Compton remained a mathematical possibility by swamping Fullerton, 42-29.

The statistics:

JUNIOR COLLEGE CONFERENCE

| | W. | L. | Pct. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Los Angeles | 4 | 0 | 1000. |
| Pasadena | 3 | 0 | 1000. |
| Long Beach | 2 | 1 | .667 |
| Compton | 2 | 1 | .667 |
| Fullerton | 1 | 3 | .250 |
| Santa Ana | 0 | 3 | .000 |
| Glendale | 0 | 4 | .000 |

Fourth Round Results
Los Angeles, 28; Long Beach, 21.
Pasadena, 42; Glendale, 39.
Compton, 42; Fullerton, 29.
Santa Ana 25-22; Phoenix, Ariz., 28-24 (non conference).

Saturday's Schedule
Santa Ana at Glendale; Los Angeles at Pasadena; Long Beach at Compton; Fullerton, bye.

PICK REST OF RYDER CUP TEAM BY TRIAL

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 3.—Thirteen selected professionals are to play a 72-hole match here June 22 and 23 to determine who will be chosen for the remaining two positions and two alternate places on the American Ryder cup team.

Players already selected for the team are Walter Hagen, captain; Leo Diegel, Johnny Farrell, Horton Smith, Al Espinosa and Gene Sarazen.

CROWS STEAL GOLF BALLS

Crows and jackdaws in South Wales have developed the habit of swooping down to steal balls from the fairways of the local golf courses. ## TUT'S 24-SECOND KNOCKOUT OF PETROLLE STUNS FANDOM

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 3.—King Tut, chubby fighting sensation of Minneapolis and Wonewoc, Wis., was back in the limelight today as one of the world's leading lightweights after a 24-second victory over Bill Petrolle, the "Fargo express."

The 10,000 fans who paid more than $38,000 to see the fight, hardly realized last night what was going on until Tut had the conqueror of Jimmy McLarnin hanging helpless on the ropes, every bit of fight knocked out of him.

Petrolle fell the victim of one of the spectacular rushes with which Tut usually opens his fights and he never even had a chance to raise his hands before he was dazed with a terrific right to the chin.

That first blow, a looping right delivered on the run, really ended the fight, but Petrolle kept his feet for a few seconds, long enough to ward off a few short punches and to take on the head a shower of lefts and rights that put him out for almost five minutes.

The victory greatly increased Tut's chances of forcing Tony Canzoneri to give him a chance at the lightweight title, with which he has been flirting for several years since he quit being a sideshow wrestler and became a professional fighter instead.

H. B. Council Opens 16 Bids On Memorial Hall

CONSTRUCTION WORK STARTED IN FEW DAYS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 3.—There were 16 bids submitted to the city council Monday night on the construction job for the city auditorium which is to be made over into a memorial hall in honor of war veterans. Architects Shilling and Shilling, of Long Beach, were granted until today to review the bids and determine the lowest.

The general contract bids ranged from $29,780. bid by William Rohrbacher, of Santa Ana, to the high bid of $36,450. Plumbing bids, of which there were four submitted, ranged from $1840 to $2500. Bids for electrical work ranged from $2292 to $2853 and there were eight bids submitted on the electrical work. Painting work bids of which there were five submitted, ranged from $1860 to $2500.

Contractors were given the privilege of submitting alternate bids based on quality of material and supplies and for this reason it is not certain that the lowest bid in figures may be the winning bid, as the alternates will have to be decided by the council.

The city council granted the Superior Oil company a new permit for construction of a gasoline reduction plant at the east city limits below the bluff, near the intersection of Atlanta and California streets.

There has been talk to the effect that the Superior was to put a refinery there. The city engineer declared that the mayor made it emphatic that the permit was to be a gasoline reducing plant only. Bitter opposition to the location of the plant near the residence district developed four months ago when the matter was first presented.

WRITES FAMILY IN SWEDEN ABOUT IT

"I have five brothers and sisters in Sweden, my old home, and I'm writing them all about this wonderful Sargon treatment that has done so much for me. My stomach trouble started 25 years ago when I began to suffer with indigestion. Rheumatism set up in my hands and knees and I could hardly walk. I was habitually constipated. I tried all kinds of treatments and even sent home to Sweden for medicine, but my first real benefits came from Sargon.

"I never suffer with indigestion now, rheumatism is gone, and I haven't an ache or pain in my body. I sleep good, eat heartily, and feel fine and energetic all the time. Sargon Pills ended my constipation and biliousness, and I can't say enough in praise of this wonderful treatment."—Mrs. Anna Burg, 5100 N. Washington St., Denver.

Milk Report Goes To Water Group

NEWPORT BEACH, Feb. 3.—Members of the Newport Beach city council did not say exactly what was meant by it, but at first the thing was regarded as a joke.

They laughed when Councilman Ellsworth moved to refer it to the water committee, but that was what they did with a request made by the council of the city of San Jacinto that something be done about milk being shipped into Southern California from north of the Tehachapi.

San Jacinto wanted a resolution passed, stating that Southern California should supply its own milk market. The Newport Beach council has no milk committee, so the water committee will see what can be done about it.

BEACH C. OF C. WORKING FOR PARK PROJECT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 3.—Chamber of commerce members at their luncheon yesterday were informed by President Willis Osborn that his chief order of business and chief organization activity for the next few months would be the state coast park between Newport Beach and Huntington Beach. This matter is in court on a land condemnation suit.

President Osborn's plan is to try to bring land owners and state, county and city together in an effort to agree on a price for the wanted land. Doheny's gift of a park of 40 acres at Capistrano Beach was brought up. The park board has ruled that no county can have two state parks, Osborn declared.

Mrs. May S. Jackson, club secretary, reported on the meeting at Santa Barbara of chamber of commerce secretaries.

There was a further discussion of the matter of a change in name for the city, with Postmaster W. I. Clapp espousing the name change and getting strong support. President Osborn and Attorney Ray Overacker opposed the proposed change in the city's name.

COAST ESCAPES DAMAGE AS TIDE REACHES HIGH MARK

SAN CLEMENTE, Feb. 3.—The highest tide of the year hit the coast yesterday. The mark set by the tide was seven feet and three inches, which with the low tide at 3:33 o'clock in the morning, meant a difference in the tide of eight feet and eight inches inside of seven hours.

Seal rocks at San Clemente were covered by the tide, the first time this year and the third time that will happen this year. On August 12 and 13 the two remaining high tides of the year will occur.

North of San Clemente from the city limits to Dana Point the tide crept over the strand to the railroad tracks and at the mouth of San Juan creek the tide rode over the beach and into the creek bed, backing water past the new bridge across the creek at that point.

The tide came without an ocean wind and no damage was done.

ORATORY CONTEST SET FOR MARCH 10

FULLERTON, Feb. 3—Announcement of an oratorical contest to be sponsored by the Southern California Junior College association on March 21 in the Fullerton union high school auditorium was made today by Norma Palmer, Fullerton junior college forensics manager.

Any subject may be used for the contest although topics of general interest are favored by judges in the contest. The maximum length of the orations is approximately 1000 words an they must be absolutely original, having never been used in any other contest.

Miss Palmer also announced today that the local junior college debating team which was to be entered in numerous college debates has disbanded for the remainder of the year. She explained that the only forensics function will be the oratorical contest on March 21, and that preliminary try-outs will be held here soon.

PRESENT MUSICAL AS P.-T. A. BENEFIT

OCEANVIEW, Feb. 3.—An appreciative audience enjoyed the musical which was presented through the courtesy of Prof. Caesar Cianfoni, head of the Santa Ana Conservatory of Music, a group of his advanced pupils appearing at the school auditorium. The door receipts went into the Oceanview Parent-Teacher association treasury.

Prof. Cianfoni was introduced by Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson, of Midway City, representative of the conservatory there, taking the place of the local representative, Mrs. Clarence Groves, who, with Mrs. Wilson, sponsored the musical. The program included the following numbers: Two groups of two string quartette numbers by four young men who are members of the string orchestra of 100 which Prof. Cianfoni recently organized as the Orange County String orchestra; two vocal solos by Miss Baker; three trumpet solos by Prof. Cianfoni; two readings, "The Corners of Your Mouth" and "The Baby in the House," and another group of two solos by Miss Baker.

Following a covered dish luncheon at noon an impromptu program was enjoyed. Miss Ethel Mead, of Long Beach, gave several vocal solos. L. C. Dale, of Los Angeles, read original poems.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meservey and Mrs. Estelle Rogers, of Beverly Hills; Mr. and Mrs. G. A. ## STREET WIDENING UNDER WAY SOON

WESTMINSTER, Feb. 3.—Work on the widening of the Seventeenth street from the Huntington Beach boulevard at the New Westminster corner to Serrano, is to begin within a few days, it is understood. Arrangements as to water necessary for the mixing of the concrete and other minor details have already been made. This section of the boulevard is to be widened to conform to the section on the west connecting with the new proposed cut-off which Orange and Los Angeles counties are to put through into Long Beach. The boulevard will be 40 feet in width, a 10-foot addition to go on, making the boulevard of three-car width.

Two Injured In Anaheim Mishaps

ANAHEIM, Feb. 3.—Two people were slightly injured in two automobile mishaps that happened here Sunday.

Mrs. Henrietta Schindler, 730 Zeyn street, was bruised when she was knocked down by a car driven by William Ramm, 743 Zeyn street. Ramm was backing out of the drive way of his home at the time.

Afthur Pebley, who was riding with Walter Punkett, 410 South Malden, Fullerton, was thrown from the car when it was struck by a machine driven by Mrs. A. K. Dahl, 504 West South street. Mrs. Dahl was backing out of a parking space on West Center street at the time of the accident. Pebley sustained a bruised hip and leg.

BAIT BIDDERS REQUESTED TO MEET COUNCIL

NEWPORT BEACH, Feb. 3.—Seekers after the right to sell live bait at the Newport city pier will have an opportunity of telling the city council what kind of service they would provide to anglers if given the privilege.

This was decided by the council members last night, when they adopted a recommendation of the street committee, headed by Paul Ellsworth, to which the matter had been referred at a former meeting. Several applications had been made to the council for the concession held by George C. Hiner, whose term has expired.

Ellsworth recommended that City Clerk Alfred Smith invite all who had made application to send in their suggestions before the council will act finally in the matter.

New Fire Apparatus

The council will advertise for bids for new fire apparatus to cost about $19,000. This will reduce the fire insurance rates and will be paid out of the general fund without the necessity of a bond issue, according to Councilman A. J. Garfield, chairman of the fire committee.

Some of the trees planted about three years ago in Corona del Mar have been found unsuitable for satisfactory growth there, and will be replaced by more suitable varieties the council decided, on recommendation of City Engineer R. L. Patterson.

Most of the trees, however, have proved satisfactory and the tree-planting program has materially added to the appearance and value of property in that section of the city.

A request from State Senator Harper as to whether this city council favors or opposes an amendment to the state law which would allow a minimum general tax rate of $1.25, instead of $1 was tabled for action at the next meeting. Harper has introduced such a bill at Sacramento and desires the opinions of councils of sixth class cities regarding it.

Clerks Named

Miss Marion Turner was appointed clerk in the city assessor's department, on recommendation of City Clerk Alfred Smith, to succeed Miss Lillian Peters, and Mrs. Ruth Rainbolt was named clerk in the water department, succeeding Mrs. Lola Anderson.

John Cole of Cole's Boat yard, recently constructed on the north side of the Bay near the Arches Crossing, should have applied to the council for a permit to construct a pier he was told. Cole appeared at the meeting, after he had been interviewed by Harbor Master M. S. Robinson. He said he had received a permit for his building and that the plans showed the pier.

City Engineer Patterson said the pier would extend into the water but not beyond the bulkhead line, and City Attorney Roland Thompson said that it had been the practice to secure permits for piers from the council for piers into any navigable waters. It was intimated that the permit would be granted if application were made in the regular way.

W. C. T. U. TO MEET

TUSTIN, Feb. 3.—The regular meeting of the Tustin W. C. T. U. will be held at 2:30 p. m., Thursday, in the Presbyterian church parlor. Mrs. Electa Perry will be the leader and her subject will be "Frances Willard Memorial." Mrs. Helen Finley, president, invites all members and friends to be present.

Huntington Beach Students Present Play Friday Night

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 3.—"The Fortune Teller" will be produced by the music department of the Huntington Beach union high school Friday night, with 150 students in the cast.

It is to be the most pretentious opera in the history of the high school and it is expected the auditorium, which seats 1500 people, will be filled to capacity. Miss Verna Helm has the role of Irma, the heroine, and Miss Martha Wardlow will take the part of the fortune teller. The male leads are taken by Cleo Smith and Glenn Lee. Mrs. Ruth Wardlow, music director of the high school and director of the opera, has used every trained voice in the school in the opera cast.

SAYS GOLDEN RULE NEEDED IN BUSINESS

ANAHEIM, Feb. 3.—Applying the golden rule in business was the theme elaborated upon by Dr. Frank Warren, noted lecturer of Riverside, when he spoke to members of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association at the regular monthly meeting in the Elks clubhouse last night.

Dr. Warren pointed out that business would become fundamentally more sound if the business men would apply the golden rule in their transactions. He said that liberty and the pursuit of happiness were the rights of all men and that business conditions had a distinct effect on these things. He spoke of the benefits of organizations of business men of al ldescriptions.

A committee was appointed last night to make plans for a celebration of the completion of street improvements on West Center street and Lincoln avenue, according to an announcement made today by George Reid, secretary of the organization.

SEAL BEACH CIVIC GROUPS TO CONVENE

SEAL BEACH, Feb. 3.—Invitations have been extended to the civic and social organizations of Seal Beach and Sunset Beach to an American Legion social night, to be held tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the city auditorium. Members of the chamber of commerce and Woman's clubs of both cities will attend the affair, as well as members of the Masonic order, Woman's Aid and the Altar society.

SUPERIOR OIL SUSPENDS TEST IN H. B. FIELD

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 3.—The Superior Oil company has shut down operations on its deep test well at the corner of Twentieth and Olive streets in the town lot oil field. The company owns the lots in fee and has no drilling or lease obligations there. The crew at the well has been transferred to Santa Fe Springs to work on some Superior wells in that field, cleaning out wells.

The Superior has not abandoned its deep test. The company announcement is to the effect that the wed operations are temporarily suspended, that the company may resume operations at the deep test within a month or less time or more time.

Oil field gossip is to the effect that the Superior has 22,000 barrels of possible production in the Huntington Beach field and is marketing at this time only about one-third of this possible production.

The McCaslin deep test at Twenty-first and Olive is drilling deeper. It is the policy of the operators to send this well down to an undetermined depth, but sufficient to thoroughly test the sands below 7000 feet. If the well blows in of its own accord, there will be no difficulty in taking care of it, according to the operators. The well is cased and the mining bureau has given an o. k. on the water shutoff. No swabbing or baling tests have been made toward an effort to bring the well in. Oil field reports are that McCaslin has not been able to make an oil contract on the well.

The failure of either the Superior or the McCaslin wells to be brought in and the announcements that it will be weeks and possibly months before either well is brought in, was a disappointment in the field.

The market situation is improving slightly. Prospects of tariff or embargo on foreign oil is encouraging some of the larger independents to make oil contracts. Oil buyers are in the field for the first time in two years, and are actually picking up what is known as "distress oil." This means oil that can not find a market and is being offered at bargain prices. As long as this oil is not being produced beyond the conservation limit, buyers will take it, especially if the price is satisfactory and the gravity not too low.

'SCIENCE AND BIBLE' TOPIC OF PHYSICIAN

Dr. Herbert A. Johnston, physican and surgeon of Anaheim, lectured Sunday night in the Christian and Missionary Alliance church, on the subject of "The Science of the Bible." Dr. Johnston is a member of the American Association of Scientists to which association he gave honor and dignity by the masterly way in which he handled his subject, according to the Rev. C. D. Hicks.

The doctor spoke of the "Myths of Science," stating that mythology of the Greeks and Romans was written by the scientists of that age and much of the so-called science of today is nothing more than myths, instead of truth. He then tested the Bible from the standpoints of geography, topography, archaeology, ethnology, geology and anthropology. The ease with which he used the terminology of the scientist and the manner in which he handled these various branches of science proved him to be a scientist of no mean ability. In speaking of geography he stated the Bible is as good a handbook in travel as can be secured. He dealt at large with the origin of matter and the utter inability of the scientist to account for it but stated that the Bible student has no difficulties along that line.

He called the Bible, in dealing with these matters of science "a book of super-science" in that it gives the origin of all power. "All power is given unto me," quoting Christ.

Geology, the speaker claimed, is but a young science and must be rewritten before it can be safely followed. He here showed that there is no young rock or old rock, that the theories of geology regarding the method of determining the age of rocks is based entirely upon unreliable assumption. He then showed that true science declares that some time in the far past the entire earth had a tropical climate and that there was a world-wide catastrophe, at which time all the various classes of rocks were formed. With this theory the Bible fully agrees, declared the speaker, and this is the only theory that entirely explains the existing conditions.

He further declared that many pulpits were selling out to the scientist instead of remaining true to the Bible which is the only authority for truth.

Williams Levens, who according to the complaint was a passenger in an auto operated by Arthur Kelly, is the plaintiff. Defendants are Earl and H. D. Douglas. PROPER REFRIGERATION IMPROVES FOODS ... Winter or Summer

MANY OF our most pleasing foods are far more appetizing if they pass through a period of proper refrigeration before we eat them. Meats are tenderer, vegetables are crisper and of better flavor, milk is sweeter for a period of properly regulated refrigeration.

This is true in Winter as well as Summer. The "cooler" is not to be trusted in a land where noon temperatures rise well above the 50-degree Danger-Line every day in the year. It is best to keep refrigeration, either ice or electrical, on the job, every day. Proper cooling costs less in Winter than in Summer. But it is equally important, and this is the more reason why we should stay good friends with our refrigerator, all Winter long.

Long Beach Buys Orange County Water Bearing Land

PURCHASES 75 ACRES IN LOS ALAMITOS AREA

Purchase of 75 acres of water bearing land in Orange county by the city of Long Beach for the purpose of increasing the water supply of that community became known here yesterday. The tract, which is 660 feet wide and nearly a mile long, is located adjacent to Spring street between Bloomfield street and Moody street. It was purchased from the Los Alamitos Sugar company at a price of $75,000.

Long Beach has made several overtures in the past for purchase of water bearing land in Orange county but the deals have not been consummated. In this instance negotiations were successfully carried on to completion before organizations in Orange county opposed to such action became aware of the facts.

A former attempt to purchase considerable acreage in the county aroused protest from city councils, clubs and civic organizations including chambers of commerce. The county government also joined in the protest and was assured by the owners of the property that they would not complete the sale without first giving Orange county an opportunity to purchase the property. The deal that has just been closed by the beach city involves another tract.

In addition to the 75-acre tract in Orange county, Long Beach also completed negotiations for the purchase of 355.6 acres from the Montana ranch at a price of $2000 per acre. This tract is a mile and a half north of the acreage purchased from the Los Alamitos Sugar company and runs for three and a half miles from Cerritos avenue to Main street in Artesia.

Long Beach officials estimate that the purchases will enable the city to double its present water supply.

DISTINGUISHED GUESTS ARE INVITED TO ATTEND ANNUAL MILITARY BALL FEBRUARY 21

Following the custom of previous years a long list of notables has been invited to be special guests at the third annual military ball of the Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World war, to be given at the American Legion clubhouse at Orange on the evening of February 21.

Many high ranking officers of the Army, Navy and Marines are included in this year's list just released by Mrs. Jack Fisher, who is in charge of this committee. Many of these are from destroyer and naval bases at San Diego and include General Van Dieman, Captain R. Morris, Commanders R. R. Smith and E. H. Connor, Lieut.-Commanders J. T. Alexander, F. B. Baltzly and J. T. Howe, Major General Joseph H. Pendleton and Mayor Harry Clark, of that city.

Consuls and vice-consuls of all nations who participated in the World war will be asked to attend, and this in itself will add color to this year's event. Captain St. Remie, profusely decorated French hero, will be present from Los Angeles. Other invited guests from that city include Buron Fitts, district attorney of Los Angeles county; Major D. A. Borden, of the Veterans bureau, and Captain P. H. Stone.

William J. Murphy, past national commander of the D. A. V. organization, has accepted an invitation, while State Commander John J. Hayes, of San Francisco, of the D. A. V.; B. W. Gearhart, Legion state commander, are also expected to attend. Judge E. J. Marks, now of Fresno, and Judge G. K. Scovel are included on the guest list. Mrs. Ella Taylor, state commander of the D. A. V. auxiliary has been invited from Sacramento.

Included in the list of March Field, Riverside, officers are Major M. F. Harmon, Captain H. F. Wing, and Lieutenant Howard Sallee. Fort McArthur will send Major Paul N. Brown, and Colonel Nelson Holderman, Orange county hero of the Lost Battalion, will represent the Veterans Home of Napa county.

The decorations to be used will be the colors and standards of the various military organizations of Orange county, which, coupled with the uniformed guests will lend a very colorful spectacle. It is expected that this year's military ball will outdo its predecessors, both in color and social atmosphere.

ATTENDS MEETING

TENANTS CAN'T PARK IN FRONT OF OWN 'HOME'

Mrs. Anna James, apartment house owner, at 202½ South Sycamore street, is having trouble with all-day parking in front of her apartment, she told the city council last night.

Persons park there all day and keep her renters from parking their machines in front of their own place of abode, she complained.

Her chief objection was to the length of time Dr. W. C. Mayes, with offices in the First National bank, parked in front of her apartment. She said he generally parked his car there from 8 a. m. until noon and then from "right after lunch" until sometimes as late as 6 p. m. She had had words with him, she reported, but apparently it did no good. She wanted to know what the council would do about it.

There was some discussion, it finally ending when the city engineer was instructed to make an investigation and settle the matter after talking with Dr. Mayes.

There was some talk of extending the two hour parking law past Mrs. James' apartment building, but this idea was discarded when it was shown that this would not benefit the tenants of the apartment.

CANTANDO CLUB CONCERT DATE FEBRUARY 18TH

The Cantando club of Santa Ana, men's chorus, will stage its second concert of the season at the high school on February 18 under the direction of Leon Eckles.

According to Warren K. Hillyard, chairman, this is the 12th concert appearance of the organization before Santa Ana audiences. It has been customary to hold all the club's concerts on a Tuesday evening, but this concert is to be a departure from the rule, as it was found to be more expedient on this occasion to use Wednesday evening.

As soloist the club has secured Miss Georgia Stark, soprano. Miss Stark was feature soloist with the Los Angeles Ellis club and made a decided hit with its audiences at the last concert.

Reserved seats to sustaining members will be mailed out about February 11. Any sustaining member not receiving tickets prior to the week of the concert should immediately notify the secretary, Charles Wollaston, or any of the directorate, Hillyard said.

BELLHOP DECIDES 'STARVING' MUST BE PROFITABLE RACKET

Gives Quarter to 'Bum,' Who Returns It As Tip

The unemployment situation in Orange county as well as the rest of the country attracts much attention, and much sympathy goes out to those without jobs those without money and without food, but Dwight Bement, youthful bellboy at the Santa Ana hotel, is not one who is wasting any more sympathy on men out of work.

Young Bement has a good reason, too.

Called to the desk the other day, he was told to take the hotel's receipts to the bank, and with the bag of money under his arm walked down the street. A half block away a man walked up to him with the usual story about being out of work, a family to support and no money.

In fact, this member of the unemployed family of America didn't even know where his next meal was coming from, he told the youthful bell-hop. "Would you let me have a little to get some beans?"

The boy fidgeted in his pocket and gave the man a quarter. Bowing and scraping the man thanked him dutifully and was on his way to the nearest restaurant and the boy went on down the street, happy in the knowledge that he had helped a person in distress.

Yesterday, Bement was on duty in the hotel, when the bell rang, summoning him to the counter. He espied a man standing waiting to be shown his room. He had just checked into the hotel. His bag was on the floor and waiting to be carried to the room.

Bement thought he recognized the man, but being a good bellhop, he said nothing, taking the bag and showing the way to one of the hotel's best rooms. On the way up the elevator, the boy involuntarily jumped — he remembered where he had seen the man. It was the "bum" who "hit" him for the 25 cent piece on the street.

And still being a good bell boy, Bement said nothing. He took the man to his room, unlocked the door, set the suitcase on a rack, raised the window, saw that there were towels and soap, asked if he could bring ice water, and after putting the key on the inside of the door, turned to go.

The guest then called him back, held out his hand with the well known tip, and Bement had his quarter back. Still Bement never disclosed the fact that he recognized the man or that they had ever met before.

But that's the reason Bement doesn't waste any more sympathy on America's army of unemployed.

Heathman and Mrs. William Smart were co-hostesses yesterday afternoon when they entertained members of the First Travel section of the Ebell society in the latter's home at 720 North Main street. Clever little place cards contributed much to the pretty scene.

Following the luncheon Mrs. Susan Rutherford gave an illustrated talk on her travels around the world, and many were the interesting incidents of which she told the guests while describing the beauties of Europe. She displayed a number of charming souvenirs.

Those present, other than Mrs. Heathman and Mrs. Smart, the hostesses, were Mesdames Susan Rutherford, T. E. Stephenson, J. S. Smart, Lynn Shaw, J. W. Van Cleve, Stephen Ross, Charles Kendall, E. B. Smith, George Smith and A. W. Ames.

Mothers Honor Willard Graduates at Banquet In Y. W. Rooms

An enjoyable affair of recent date was the banquet held in the Y. W. C. A. rooms for graduates of Frances Willard junior high school, with their mothers as hostesses. The school colors of blue and white were carried out in the decorations which included tall tapers placed at intervals down the length of the tables. Streamers, too, added their note of harmony to the scene.

The appetizing repast was followed by a program in charge of Maurine Scott and Miss Dorothy Broadway. William Curnutt acted as master of ceremonies, and gave a welcome address preceding the reading of the class history by Georgina Irwin. Group singing was enjoyed, and especially well rendered was the class song.

Fred Cartwright added to the musical numbers with a piano solo, followed by reading of the class prophecy by James Berry, garbed as Father Time. Miss Broadway presented letters to Eula Hull, Alice Cummings, Juanita Pinnix, Betty Wolfe, Georgina Irwin, Ruth Cummings, Pauline Morgan, Jeanette Brown and Masako Kawoki. ## Smart Wedding Takes Place at Anaheim This Morning

Outstanding among the social events in the nearby city of Anaheim and of interest to many friends here, was the wedding this morning at the St. Boniface Catholic church in the former city, when Miss Dorothy Eickholt, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Eickholt, was married to Joseph Huarte, son of Mrs. Pilar Huarte, 411 North Olive street of Anaheim, with the Rev. Father Patrick Browne, pastor of the church, officiating at the impressive ceremony.

The bride was gowned in ivory satin and her long veil of embroidered Brussels net was caught to her hair with a wreath of orange blossoms. The gown was cut on long lines and the long pearl necklace which she wore, added a note of charming simplicity. Miss Eickholt carried an arm bouquet of bridal roses, lilies of the valley and orchids.

Mrs. Robert Peltzer, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and her other attendants were Mrs. Estelle Bastin and Miss Jeanette Huarte, who were most attractive in frocks of georgette in tones of yellow with picture hats of egg-shell and slippers in the same soft tint. Mrs. Bastin carried Hoover roses, orchids and sweet peas and Miss Huarte yellow and orchid sweet peas.

Cornelius Huarte served the bridegroom as best man and ushers were Earl Bushard and Robert Peltzer.

Before the ceremony Miss Juanita Brownfield gave a recital of organ music and Miss Olga Peltzer, well known as a musician throughout the county, sang "Ave Maria" and "Oh Mary, Mother."

A wedding breakfast, at which 30 guests were present, was served in the home of the bride's perents and directly afterward, the young people left for San Francisco by motor, where they are to spend two weeks. For traveling the bride chose a smart tailored ensemble of dark green with accessories in French nude.

After returning from the north the young couple will go to Shreveport, La., where Mr. Huarte is playing professional baseball with the Texas league. He has recently been with the Northeast league.

Both bride and bridegroom are members of pioneer families of Orange county and attended the Anaheim schools.

The association has established this fund in order that women of outstanding ability may be able to do research work in foreign countries. ## Well-Known Aviator And Missouri Girl Are Married

Arousing much interest throughout the Southland as well as in aeronautical circles of the country is the news of the marriage of Sol Spigel of Long Beach to Myrtle Evelyn Campbell of Lebanon, Mo., an event of the past week end in Arizona. Motoring to Yuma, the couple were married in the presence of a little group of friends. They are deferring their honeymoon for a week or ten days and are making their home in Long Beach.

Mr. Spigel is well known as an aviator, and at present is employed as pilot for the McMillan Petroleum corporation with Eddie Martin of this city. He was associated with the Zenith Aircraft at the time the Albatross made its endurance flight, and aside from assisting in building the huge ship, was a member of its crew.

Prior to his service with the Zenith company, he served with the United States navy as an aviator. He was one of the men making the surveying tour to Alaska and with the rest of the crew remained there carrying on his work for four years. His home formerly was in Richmond, Va.

Mrs. Spigel visited in Fresno eight months ago with her grandmother, Mrs. L. C. Campbell, and it was at this time that she and Mr. Spigel became acquainted. ## The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

Taking Old Father Time by the Forelock

I realize that opening up the subject of buying Christmas gifts almost a year ahead of the day, is like asking friend husband what he wants for dinner right after a big breakfast..but..just the same, I'm going to do it and wait for my thanks when next Christmas, with its rush and worries, rolls around to find that some of you have taken Time by the forelock and have done your shopping early.

What I have to suggest today applies to the gifts one gives to their family or to the intimate friends usually asked in on Christmas eve for the Christmas tree ceremony. We all know, too well, that it isn't the big expensive gift that always means the most. It is the little things you find tagged with your name that count, things you have mentioned as wanting but never getting because you forget them every time you go down town. To find them on the Christmas tree gives you the lovely warm feeling of knowing that some one has remembered your preference in a thoughtful way.

• • •

So-o-o, keep one drawer just for Christmas gift odds 'n' ends, and add to my suggestions, your own. Into my drawer I am putting, as I pick them up at sales, various colored balls of twine, fine and coarse, two or three sixes of tacks with a little hammer, sets of wax candles, boxes of sealing wax, boxes of soft lead pencils, good playing cards, blocks of bridge scores, nice toilet soaps, boxes of cleansing tissues, and so on, through the endless list of articles you, yourself, would enjoy getting.

None of them cost more than a dollar, most of them far less but think ahead and realize what a joyful, paper-scattering occasion you can make next Christmas if you have half a dozen funny little packages on the tree for each and every one invited to the tree. It's worth thinking about seriously, and it will save you money, time and worry.

What is equally important: You will be doing your small part to improve business we are all crying over, and that's something, too!

TODAY'S RECIPE

TAMALE PIE

2 pounds boiling beef
1-2 cup ripe olives
1-2 cup pulp of dried red peppers (sweet)
3 cloves of garlic, minced
1 dozen seeded raisins
Salt and pepper to taste
2 tablespons corn meal

CRUST FOR PIE

2-3 cup vegetable shortening
1 teaspon salt
1 1-4 cups white corn meal
2 cups boiling water

• • •

Boil the beef, which should be a fat piece, rather slowly in plenty of water. When the bones will fall out take it up and shred fine, measure out two cupsful and add about three cups of broth, the olives and raisins, minced garlic and salt and pepper. Let this simmer along while the pepper pulp is prepared.

(Have about eight of the dried sweet chili pepper pods soaked in warm water, put them on to cook and when quite soft, drain, put each pod on a board and scrape out the thick red pulp which the cooking has loosened up).

Add this to the meat and simmer until ready to stir in the two (or more) tablespoonfuls of cornstarch to thicken the gravy slightly. A little cayenne may be added if the pie is liked hotter.

• • •

To make the crust, boil shortening, salt and water together, slowly sift in the cornmeal and cook to a smooth, thick mush. Let the mush cool then with a spoon spread it over the bottom and sides of a shallow buttered baking dish. Put in the meat mixture and use the remaining mush for the top. An easy way to put it on is to knead it just enough to handle while rolling it out, or take up small bits and pat into small flat cakes and drop over the filling.

Bake 30 minutes in a hot oven and serve with a salad and a cooked vegetable, which must not be potatoes.

• • •

This tamale pie will serve six. The calories total about 3700 with energy units very much in evidence.

• • •

Sunday School Class Has Enjoyable Party

The January party of the First Presbyterian church Sunday school class which is taught by Mrs. L. D. Mercereau, was held recently in the Mercereau home at 1505 West Fifth street. The event was the culmination of a contest between class members who had been divided into two groups, the reds and the blues, and the contest was to obtain new members and attendance records.

Leaders of the blue side were Mrs. Burton Rowley and Mrs. George Lackaye, while leading the red side were Mrs. Elwin Gammell and Mrs. Thomas Smith.

Dainty corsages of spring blossoms, arranged by Mrs. Orlo Householder, Mrs. Smith and Miss Gladys Thomas, were presented to the new members, the guests and the winners in the contest, the group on the blue side.

The losers also presented their opponents with tiny blue pencils on blue cords which are to be used in their Bibles.

An interesting feature of the afternoon was the drawing of names for valentines, and the drawings are to remain effective for a year. The names are not to be revealed until the close of the year and during the year each member of the class is to send a valentine, a birthday card, an Easter card, and greetings on other occasions to her valentine. Absences from class are noted and if any one is ill, the person who has drawn her name, is expected to send flowers or write a letter.

Ninety were present and an ice course was served with coffee. A party is held each month and at the recent meeting Mrs. Gammell appointed the committees for the affairs to be held during the coming year.

'LITTLE CAESAR' BEST GANGSTER FILM OF YEAR

(BY REVIEWER)

Chicago—just as you picture it after reading crime stories, murders and gang war-fare—that's "Little Caesar," which opened to an enthusiastic audience at the Fox West Coast theater last night.

There have been numerous gang war pictures, almost too many, but after viewing "Little Caesar," the others sink into insignificance and can easily be forgotten. The film is the best of the lot by a mile, and while there are weak spots, the dramatic acting of Edward G. Robinson guarantees the picture from the start.

The story might have been called "The Rise and Fall of a Gangster" and that title would better tell the story, for it deals with Rico Bandello, small town stickup man, who graduates into the big city through sheer nerve and ambition. One day he finds himself living on the fat of the land—the next down in the gutter from whence he came.

Gang war from the gangster's side is the story of Little Caesar," the First National picture that gives a better view of the entire world of crime as it is ala gangs than even "The Doorway to Hell." The picture seems to be a record of actual happenings rather than fiction and the audience will live through it rather than be amused by it. There is no comedy, but there is drama, plenty of it. There is little romance, but there are thrills and suspense to make up for it.

Douglas Fairbanks jr. has one of the key roles of the show, but you will not be impressed with him in this film. He is miscast for the part. Robinson steals the show.

'SANTA FE TRAIL' ENDS RUN TONIGHT

"The Santa Fe Trail" starring Richard Arlen in a narrative of "God's Country," a Spanish oasis of love and mystery as fascinating as the title of the original story, "Spanish Acres."

In settings undisturbed by the toot of a train, the blare of an automobile, or any of the other noisy districtions of the modern city, there is unfolded a story of adventure and intrigue to hold audiences spellbound from the opening chorus of bleating sheep flocks totaling thousands, to a heart-tugging climax in which characterful old Eugene Pallette, unable to understand love, topples over asleep counting the tumbling doves.

RUTH CHATTERTON'S NICKNAME IS 'MIKE'

Ruth Chatterton's father selected her name carefully to avoid any possibility of her being given a nickname, a practice which he disliked.

Therefore, he discarded all names which might become "Nan," "Winnie," "Gwen," "Kittie" and similar contractions.

Yet, by her third birthday, everyone in the neighborhood called her "Mike," according to the Paramount star, who is working on "Unfaithful."

Harry Green, who plays the part of Clara's boss, the theater manager, was the Jewish dialect comedian of "Close Harmony," "The Spoilers," "Sea Legs" and "True to the Navy."

COMING

'NO LIMIT' ON HERE LAST TIMES TODAY

"No Limit," Clara Bow's latest all-talking picture, which opened here Sunday, completes its Santa Ana run today. The picture is showing at the Fox Broadway theater.

With Dixie Lee, Stuart Irwin, Norman Foster and Harry Green in the support cast, the picture concerns the trials of a girl usherette in a moving picture house in New York City. The plot evolves around Clara's finding a cigaret case in the theater and its subsequent return to its owner, Foster, with whom she falls desperately in love.

Foster turns out to be a racketeer, but he wins Clara and they are married. Then Clara tries to keep him from a big robbery, and fails. How the picture turns out is both a surprise and a thrill. The Green dialogue in the picture is one of the features of the play while the entire plot will prove entertaining.

Starting tomorrow at the Fox Broadway theater is "Fighting Caravans" one of the biggest pictures of the past season and throughout the Clara Bow picture is it inadvertently advertised in the theater where Clara works. Fighting Caravans will play here four days.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN — PICTURES by KNICK

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

Said Clowny, "It would be a treat if we could stop right here and eat. I'd like to sit down in a house and spend an hour or so. At least that would be something new. We haven't much else now to do. Why not have all the fun we can, right now, before we go?"

"All right," replied the Travel Man. "I'm pretty sure, lad, that we can." He then spoke to a native and arranged to feed the crowd. The meal, of course, was cooked inside. "Let's wait out here," one Tiny cried. "And, when we go inside to eat, some strange food will be tried."

But he was wrong. The meal was rice. At that it tasted very nice. They finished very shortly and some fruit was passed around. The native told a yarn or two 'bout things the Tinies never knew. Said Coppy, "When you're traveling, what wondrous things are found."

And then they hired a funny cart. "For some place new we will depart," exclaimed the Travel Man. Then he cried out, "Please climb aboard! We'll drive right down a bumpy road. And then this very merry load will see a very strange sight." "Hip, hurray!" The Tinies roared.

They'd driven 'bout a mile or so. "This is as far as we will go," said Mister Travel Man. And then he jumped down to his feet. Said he, "I think that I will beg that native to show us an egg. 'Twill be the largest you have seen and much too big to eat."

An Aepyornis egg was found. It had been buried in the ground. "What is it?" shouted Clowny. In amazement his eyes blinked. The Travel Man said, "Well, I know, 'twas laid, oh, years and years ago. The bird that laid it sure was big, but now it is extinct."

Missing Letter Links

RULES

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE-TIE-PIE-PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.

3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

Tradition Says Overcoats To Be Worn In Florida

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—(UP)—It may be springtime in the Rockies, also Montreal, but folks in Florida will wear overcoats for the next six weeks or else the tradition about the ground hog and February 2 is just a tradition and nothing more.

While persons who have faith in the groundhog as a weather forecaster puzzled today over the fact that the sun shone yesterday in places where it wasn't expected and didn't shine in places where it was, Forecaster C. A. Donnell, of Chicago, compiled statistics showing the groundhog had been wrong more often than right.

Among the places where the groundhog, if any, saw his shadow Monday and where, therefore, one tradition says six weeks more of winter should be expected, were Chicago, Indianapolis, Tampa, certain parts of the Rockies, including Denver, and Norfolk.

SEEK HEIRS TO TELEGRAPHER'S $30,000 ESTATE

FALLS CITY, Neb., Feb. 2.—(UP)—An unclaimed legacy of nearly $30,000 awaits the son and daughters of H. I. Hunt, 72-year-old recluse, whose death disclosed the presence of the hidden fortune in his tiny shanty here.

Richardson county authorities have started a nation-wide search for the possible beneficiaries of the old man's fortune—hoarded up during more than a quarter of a century in an old tin box hidden in his shack.

Hunt tossed on the bed within reach of the fortune in government bonds before being discovered in delirium and removed to a hospital where he died of starvation and complications.

Hunt and his wife were separated more than 25 years ago. Hunt gave up his position as a telegraph operator here following the separation, moved into the shanty, and gained the reputation of being an eccentric.

While some of the few who could remember him before his retirement believed he had been married twice, nothing was known of the whereabouts of either wife. He seldom mentioned his family affairs other than that he had a son and two daughters, believed living in Kansas.

FIND ANCIENT TIME SYSTEM IN AFRICA

MOGADOR, Morocco. — Father Gagnon, a "White Father" missionary just returned to Morocco after an exploration trip through little known parts of French West Africa and the Gold Coast, brought back a report of one of the poetical time keeping systems that man ever used.

The Gold Coast natives of the hinterlands have used a clock of 13 hours, from darkness-before-dawn to darknuess-for-slep, but during eight hours of the night there is a void in the clock.

Father Gagnon translated the clock as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| When the roosters crow | 4 am |
| When the earth begins to grow light | 5 am |
| When the sun appears | 6 am |
| When the sun is adult | 8 am |
| When the sun shines everywhere | 9 am |
| When the sun's rays burn | 11 am |
| When the sun turns down | 3 pm |
| When the sun's rays grow softer | 4 pm |
| When the sun turns red | 5 pm |
| When the sun sleeps | 6 pm |
| When the earth is given back by the sun | 7 pm |
| When sleep approaches | 8 pm |
| When sleep has come | 9 pm |

NEW YORK BONDS

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(UP)—United States government bonds encountered support and rallied moderately today, on a suspension of heavy liquidation which had forced wide breaks in a number of these issues in previous sessions. Highest grade investment issues in other sections of the bond market moved fractionally higher.

Treasury 3¾s of 1943 led the upward movement in the government list with a gain of 6-32 points, while advances ranging from 1-32 to 3-32 point were scored by four other issues. This action followed news from Washington, that the proposed legislation for immediate payment of soldier bonus certificates, necessitating flotation of a government loan of more than $2,000,000,000 would encounter difficulty in securing passage through both houses.

The foreign list moved upward, with the exception of the Peruvian group, which encountered further selling. Declines of nearly 2 points each were forced in Peru 6s of 1960 and 1961, while Peru 7s sold off a point. Brazilian government issues rallied briskly, while the European group was featured by strength in Italian bonds.

Best grade railroad bonds continued to score fractional gains, under leadership of New York Central 4s and Pensylvania 5s, Atlanta and Birmingham 4s spurted 3¾ points, while most junior ails fluctuated around previous closing levels.

CHICAGO BD OF TRADE

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—(UP)—Unlimited short covering disclosed a heavily oversold wheat and corn market on the Board of Trade today and prices advanced slowly but steadily throughout the session. Stop loss orders were picked up and despite the advance few selling offers appeared. The dry, warm weather over the winter wheat belt was the major factor, making shorts uneasy. There was nothing in the news to account for the bulge in corn, but the strength in wheat was contagious, oats too, advanced sharply for the day.

At the close old wheat was ⅛ to ¼c higher and new 1¼ to 1⅝c up, cor nwas 1¼ to 1⅜c higher and oats ere ⅜ to ⅞c higher. Provisions were steady to slightly weak.

NEW YORK CURB

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(UP)—Curb stocks firmed up today following a period of irregularity at the opening and prices in representative issues moved up moderately in quiet trading.

Although there was a disposition on the part of traders to stand on the sidelines some of the specialties were taken in hand and moved up briskly, but the list as a whole displayed the quiet characteristics of the last few sessions.

Individual stocks that scored new highs for the year included Pilot Radio Tube A, Shawinigan Water and Paper and United Chemical Preferred, in which advances ranging from fractions to more than 2 points took place.

Vacum Oil staged a rally in the petroleum department, advancing more than a point on a covering and new buying demand. Standard of Indiana firmed up slightly from an early dip, but held a fraction below the previous closing level. Standard of Kentucky was slightly easier.

Holding closely to the previous closing levels, leading power and light stocks displayed a steady undertone. Electric Bond ano Share, American and Foreign Power Warrants, Cities Service and other leaders of the group were prominent on the tape at unchanged prices.

Following the decline of the previous sesion, Ford Limited scored a technical recovery and moved up fractionally on quiet demand. Noranda Mines eased slightly. Investment Trusts were quiet and steady. Goldman Sachs scoring a small advance.

SHERLOCK HOLMES—The Stock-Broker's Clerk Two Men In One By SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE

"When I was talking to the other Pinner brother in London," Pycroft went on, explaining about the Birmingham Pinner's gold filling, "the fellow laughed about my not going to Mawson's, and I happened to notice that his tooth was filled in the same identical fashion as his brother's.

"Well, Mr. Harry Pinner bowed me out with my big book. But I was thinking about the gold tooth. Of course you expect two brothers to be alike, but not so much alike as to have the same tooth filled in the same way. The voice and figure were the same, with nothing altered except what could be done with a razor or a wig. I could not doubt that it was the same man!

© 1931 By Sir Arthur Conan Doyle

"Back I went to my hotel, and tried to think things out. Why had this man sent me from London to Birmingham? Why had he got there before me? And why had he written a letter from himself to himself?

"Then I suddenly had the thought that what was dark to me might be very light to Mr. Sherlock Holmes. I had just time to get up to town by the night train—and here we are almost at Birmingham. . . ."

GREAT LOVE

The Superintendent of Schools of Chicago has had barred from the library shelves all histories containing the love stories of Catherine the Great. It is unfortunate because it has served to call attention to the love stories of Catherine the Great, and her love stories were not of the highest order. Catherine was hardly one of the great lovers of history. She lacked discrimination and idealism. A comparison of the love stories of Catherine the Great with some other stories of great love should reveal a standard, and a standard for love is certainly what we need. So that instead of attempting to take away from youngsters the stories of Catherine the Great, why not see the thing through and follow them up with some that are infinitely better and more expressive and more beautiful, and more true to life?

Not long ago one of the greatest love stories of literature was portrayed in our local high school. Adults in Santa Ana were ashamed and appalled at the reception accorded the beautiful story of frustrated love and tragedy and depth of feeling. It was marked evidence of lack of standard for the love relationship. Some newspaper which entered some homes printed in detail the other day the love letters written to a popular movie actress. Compare those letters with the letters of Robert Browning and his wife, Elizabeth, or the love letters Joyce Kilmer wrote his wife, Aliene. In the former there is not a single thought expressed which is above the commonplace. In the latter groups there is evidence of the inspiration the Brownings and the Kilmers were to each other, and the pathos of the separation, which, while it is expressed in love notes of the moving picture people, is little more than a reiteration of one-syllable words. It might be said that it is unfair to compare the depth of feeling of these contrasting groups. The Brownings and the Kilmers were gifted and could express their depths of feeling; the others could not even though they felt as deeply.

But it is only by studying the expression of those who could express themselves that young people can discover what depths there are, what fine, lasting, self-less love really is. It isn't temporary infatuation.

Young people should become acquainted with the great lovers of history, the love which has inspired great musicians, and great authors. The perfect companionship between husbands and wives which is founded on so great a love and understanding that it has made possible great accomplishments and has been a glorification of that love.

Catherine the Great and her loves does not measure up to a very high standard of love, one can see it easily by following the story of her loves with stories of other really great and beautiful and steadfast lovers; lovers who were capable of depths of feeling and devastating sorrow at separation. If by some such means a standard of love were established in the minds of young people, it is improbable that when they were witnessing the portrayal of one of the greatest love stories of history, they would create an unpleasant disturbance. On the contrary, they would be awed and sober and feel the tragedy of the story and the irony of the delayed message.

Of course, youngsters should be decorous in a theater, even if they are incapable of feeling what is transpiring on the stage, but the rest of us are erring somewhere if they do not appreciate "Romeo and Juliet."

ANOTHER DISASTROUS EARTHQUAKE

An earthquake in New Zealand has left an entire city in ruins. The death toll, which is sure to be appalling, has not yet been definitely established. The earthquake rocked many towns along the entire North Island district of New Zealand. At least one hundred persons are known to be dead. There will undoubtedly be many more as the reports come in from isolated districts. Hundreds are homeless. They and many more have seen the labor and hope of a lifetime wiped away in a few short hours, with nothing left for them but to sorrow and begin to labor again.

There are some who believe that sympathy, even unexpressed, sympathy which is just thought, is equivalent to prayer. Others, like the author of "Magnificent Obsession," accord mindfulness of others, consideration of their sorrows, helpfulness, a limitless valuation. Other wise folks say that thoughts which are not transformed into actions are useless and cowardly and good for nothing. However, one evaluates sympathy we all feel it today for those people of New Zealand. Some of us don't feel it as much as others because some fortunate people have never experienced frustrated hopes, bitter sorrows, tragedies. Others are just incapable of feeling deeply, even what they themselves experience.

Somewhere Charles Ruskin wrote at length, possibly it was a prelude to his dissertations on art, on the fact that people who live among beautiful surroundings are no happier than the people who do not. Observing the fact, he thought it sufficiently contrary to what one would naturally expect to comment at some length.

He observed it particularly among the people of the beautiful Alps. Surrounded as they were by grandeur and beauty which people from all over the world came to enjoy temporarily, they were taciturn, apparently no happier, and no more contented than people living in dingiest London. It is probably because familiarity makes the most lovely and happiest circumstances seem commonplace. It is the contrasts which bring increased consciousness to us of what good fortune we have. And everyone here in Southern California is fortunate.

Dwelling on the misfortune which has befallen the New Zealanders unconsciously we become almost happy, a bit more contented. It is strange and sad that trouble to those people so far away who have lost their loved ones and their homes should bring to us a greater contentment, an increased gratitude to God or fortune which has placed us here. Somehow, it is as though one benefits at the price of their distress. One despises oneself for doing so. It is to alleviate that scorn of our reactions that most folks dip into their bank account.

This winter we have not needed this trouble in New Zealand to bring our good fortune into bold relief. There has been dire news from the east of bread lines and bitter cold, and unemployment, and starvation in Arkansas. Oh, we should be thankful, and grateful, and willing to pay for our increased contentment.

HOW NOW?

There is ample reason to believe that Premier Mussolini today regrets that he made an issue of General Smedley Butler's address. If he doesn't today, he will before the court-martial is over and the affair has been forgotten. It has given him far more unsavory publicity than if nothing had been said of it. It will be recalled that several days ago he said that the incident was closed and he had already forgotten about it. But behold our State Department, in order to please the Premier, is giving the thing a prominence and doing so thorough a cleaning up that the character of Premier Mussolini, his actions, his ruthlessness, his ideals, etc., etc. are being discussed, and will be until the trial is over, to a degree which will not leave Premier Mussolini in an estimable position in the minds of the American people. Maybe there are those who realized this situation would develop when General Butler was pursued, but if so they would have been making the General the goat for an expose of Il Duce and that is hardly right either.

The Italian anti-Fascist newspaper, published in New York, Il Nuovo Mondo, says that it published a story similar to the one General Butler told and that it is ready to furnish for the trial the story printed in that paper which contained what purported to be the date and hour of the alleged hit-and-run incident and the names of the father of the girl and three Fascists who are reported to have sworn "to having recognized Il Duce as the driver of the car."

Well, the Premier has an apology from our State Department which must lend him prestige with his people, and censorship will serve to keep from his people the other things which are being said and developments in this country.

Becoming Air-Minded

Riverside Daily Press

A quarter century ago men and women used to look askance at the queer contraptions that moved along without horses to pull them. Few there were who trusted the weird things, and mighty few who took a chance to operate them.

That psychology of distrust and fear has veered from the automobile to the airplane, and now we have people shaking their heads at the venturesome youngsters who dare to go up in the air.

But just as the automobile finally conquered over the fears of the people, so will the airplane become just as popular. The movement toward victory is in the wind. It is being hastened not so much by efforts to convince the populace by argument as by progressive steps toward the improvement of airplanes and aeronautics in general.

Let us take, for example, the flying done over a route that has been considered the most dangerous in the country—that between Cleveland and New York. Many pilots have lost their lives in the wooded mountains of Pennsylvania along this route. But it turns out that, for the mileage flown, the loss of life here has been lower than anywhere else.

Lighted airway beacons, radio range systems, radio weather reporting, constant radio communication between land and plane—all these have made this "most dangerous" route perhaps the safest in the United States. So safe is it considered today that a passenger service is being started over it as a regular daily routine.

Just as the airways are being made safer, so are the airplanes being built foolproof—for the easy operation of the average person.

These two trends will eventually get us into the air, as improvements in the automobile and construction of better roads got us into the horseless carriage.

Indians Preferred

Imperial Valley Press

Living in this modern age, with all its improvements such as radio, electric light and power, rapid transportation and communication, it is difficult to believe that only 50 years ago the Indian was a real and substantial threat to the peace of our western country.

Scanning the "50 years ago column" in a contemporary publication, we ran across the item stating that certain countries in Arizona and New Mexico were offering rewards of $200 for every Indian scalp.

There are many men and women living who can remember those days, but to the greater number of us they are as far in the past as the Roman empire.

The Indian no longer roams the plains or hides in the mountain passes, a menace to any who might attempt to pass by. He farms his land, drives his automobile and insists on radios and electric washing machines.

Like the redman, the white, too, has changed. There being no reason for warring on the Indian, the whites make war upon each other. It is doubtful if the old time Indian fights contain more cold blooded cruelty than our modern gangsters. If the Indian fought by trickery, stealth and ambush, we can forgive him, for he was fighting for his home and his land. In that he was far superior to the modern gunman who kills for hire or merely at the word of his illegal overlord.

Of the two we'd prefer the Indian. With all his ferocity there was the cleanliness of the outdoors about him. The modern gunman is like a sewer rat, the product of decay and filthiness.

GOOD NEWS

If we are not acquainted with the whole of space; the chances are that we shall be before long.—Sir James Jeans.

I watch the stars perambulate
The avenues assigned them,
Each with its own alloted gait
And wonder what's behind them.
Have they more stars, far out in space,
Upon their course to light 'em,
The while they run their circling race,
And so ad infinitum?
If I from this terrestrial sphere
My hold some day should sever,
And dropped and dropped, year after year,
Would I just drop forever?

Does our sun have still greater suns
In still more distant places
While round its ether track it runs
Through interstellar spaces?
And must these other suns avoid
By moving with precision
Still bigger suns, or be destroyed
In some immense collision?
And up, or down, or maybe out
Are other suns revolving?
And what do they revolve about?
This problem seems past solving.

But when with realms of space at last
We all become acquainted
We'll likely find they're not as vast
As they have long been painted.
These smallest details we shall know
About the starry legions
And maybe talk by radio
To space's utmost regions.
And yet I feel within my heart
No joyful palpitations—
I may not be here to take part
In these communications.

The Four Million

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

"Spending when we didn't have it," says Will Rogers, "puts us where we are today. Saving when we have got it, will get us back to where we was before we went cuckoo If you got a dollar, soak it away, put it in a savings bank, bury it, do anything but spend it."

This advice was timely. It was offered the very day Commissioner Woods discovered that over four million were unemployed—a new high record for Government estimates.

Let us follow Will Rogers' advice through. There must be something funny in it.

Four million willing workers are out of work, as we understand it, because they produced more goods than consumers would buy. The way to put them back to work, we are told, is for consumers to buy less.

Prices have collapsed because too many buyers stayed out of the markets. The way to siffen prices, we are told, is for MORE buyers to stay out.

Interest rates have reached the lowest level in a generation because the banks have too much money. The way to cure that trouble is to put more money in the banks.

Mills are idle, mines are abandoned, furnaces are banked, factories are shut down, solely because they could not sell their products. Anything you do with your money will revive these industries—anything, we are told, but spending it.

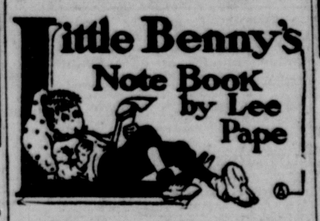

If you have a dollar, don't spend it for a book; soak it away. This will enable the publishers to employ more men.

If you have a dollar, don't spend it for a movie ticket; soak it away. This will solve the unemployment problem in Hollywood.

If you have a dollar, don't spend it for a shirt; soak it away. This will bring the textile industry back to where it was before it went cuckoo.

Will Rogers has said many funny things, but this is the funniest. Too bad about the four million who haven't the heart to laugh at it.

Sattiday afternoon me and pop and ma was taking a wawk on the Avenue and we all stopped and looked in the window of a ladies shoe store, ma stopping out of curiosity and me and pop stopping out of politeness, ma saying, Those brown ones are rather nice.

Those black and white ones are the snappiest shoes in the window, if you wunt my humble opinion, pop sed. Theyve got stile and class. It would be a plezzure to have one of them come down on my instep, he sed.

I bleeve youre rite, Willyum, their perfeckly lovely, ma sed. Do you know youve got a very remarkable taist in shoes, she sed, and pop sed, I sippose you meen my judgement is down around my feet.

Dont be silly, I think youv shown perfeck taist in pointing out those shoes, ma sed. Lets go in and price them, she sed.

O, dont bother, my intrist was purely academic, pop sed, and ma sed, Now Willyum, I insist I wunt to vindicate your judgment by seeing those shoes rite close up.

And she went in the store and me and pop went in after her, ma saying to the shoe man, How much is that little pair of black and white shoes in the window if you dont mind?

22 dollers, the shoe man sed, and pop sed, Thank you very much Im afraid we must be going now, we only had a minnit and we thawt we'd stop in and inquire about our frens.

But Willyum their perfeckly bewtiful, you sed so yourself, ma sed, and pop sed, We all make mistakes, as a matter of fact I think the heels are too high and the toes are too low and the leather looks as if it would come back from the laundry in shreds.

Well then Willyum at leest I wunt a pair of these bedroom slippers, look, Willyum, their ony marked 3 forty nine and their lined with pure rabbit, ma sed, and pop sed, All rabbits are pure, I don't think a rabbit ever had a vicious thawt.

And he took out his wallet and payed for the slippers and the shoe man rapped them up and we kepp on wawking.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

DYKES AGAINST REVOLUTION

There are always timid Americans who look under their beds at night lest a revolutionist be hidden there.

This fraternity of the frightened adds to its membership whenever the stream of prosperity slackens a bit in its flow.

But, for all our Pinkerton pursuing of radicals, extreme radical movements have made little headway in the United States.

The sluggish advance of radical movements in the United States is accounted for by various observers on the following grounds:

(1) Our more extreme radicalisms are imported radicalisms; their impetus, their formulas, and their vocabularies are essentially European; they have not come up from the grass roots of American life! and, as transplantations, they do not have the hold upon the soil they might have if they had sprung from seeds planted in American soil by American hands.

(2) We are essentially a people that takes to the things that work decently well at the moment, which is a low-brow way of saying we are pragmatic; we are more inclined to accept the thing that is working fairly well now than to give allegiance to a theoretical program that promises to work well in some distant Utopian time.

(3) We have for a good many years enjoyed an unprecedented prosperity, even if it has been a bit spotty; and extreme radical doctrines do not win converts rapidly unless the masses of the people really feel the pinch of need.

(4) We are, although some contend that this is an American weakness, fully occupied with engrossing tasks immediately before us; we are a nation of immediatists; we are not given to taking long views into the future, and most extreme radicalisms profess to be long range plans.

(5) Side by side with our reluctance, as a people, to embrace extreme radicalisms, there is a reformer hidden in most of us; we like to be dabbling in the current reforms of our time; and we are a little slow to join the extremists and leave the ranks of the men and women who are busy with present even if small reforms.

Here are, I suggest, five dependable dykes against revolution; four of these are inherent in our national character; but the fifth one—the fact that men do not turn extremist in the midst of prosperity—underscores the necessity for able and far-sighted planning for prompt economic recovery and stabilization.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

THE WRONG SORT

Promotion time always brings a crop of complaints about teachers. Most of the children who blame the teachers for their failures are wrong. The teachers are always glad to have children do well. If they err one side or the other it is usually on the side of generosity. More unfit children are likely to be promoted than to be left back.

"Yes, but how can you expect a boy to get promoted if his teacher hates him? When he makes a mistake she screeches at him, stamps her foot on his toes if he gets his feet out into the aisle and you know the seats are too small for these boys. How can a boy get promoted if he has a teacher like that. If he turns his head or whispers she slaps him in the face."

"And you didn't say a work about all this until the end of the term? How did it happen that you allowed a teacher to treat your son in this way without protesting? Your protest might as well have been made at the beginning of the term as at the end."

The situation is plain. The boy was backward, and behaved as all backward children do. They wiggle and squirm. They cannot hold their attention on the subject because they do not understand it. Then they whisper, they strive to find release from what has become an untolerable situation.

Now if the teacher is the right sort she interprets all this very soon and sets to work to adjust the child. He is examined, treated, regarded, and when term end comes no such complaint can be registered justly or unjustly. The real teacher rarely has such complaints registered against her even by the most chronic of leftovers.

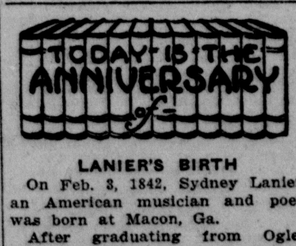

But what if the teacher is not the right sort? There are some such. Although they are on the pay rolls of the schools they were never teachers in the right sense of the word. They kept school, they minded children, but they were not, are not teachers. No teacher worthy the name would stamp on a child's toes because he had his feet out in the aisle. She or he would know that this was a signal for physical relaxation and send the child on a trip about the room, or about the school on an errand. Disorder and inattention would be the signal for an examination of the child's readiness for the instruction and an adjustment. Slapping a school child is out of the question. It is useless, unnecessary, and leads only to augmenting the difficulties whatever they are.

When a child shows signs of failing, and poor class room conduct is a sign to be interpreted in that manner, it is the duty of the teacher to analyze the child's condition at home, at school, in the playground. Have him examined and tested. Call upon any and all the powers accredited for his relief. Follow up every clue, every suggestion by whomever made until some solution is found for the child.

A teacher's duty does not end with the course of study. That course is the means to an end, the development of the mind of a child. Real teachers look beyond the course to the child and see him as he is. Then they bend every energy toward helping him out of his difficulties. These are the right sort of teachers. The other do not matter. Time will eliminate them from the child's experience.

LANIER'S BIRTH

On Feb. 3, 1842, Sydney Lanier, an American musician and poet, was born at Macon, Ga.

After graduating from Oglethorpe College, he served as tutor there for a year before he entered the Confederate army at the out-break of the Civil War. The war over, he returned to his home to study and then practice law with his father.

At this period his two dominant passions, poetry and music, overmastered him, and he decided to give up law. He went to Baltimore and obtained a position as first flute in the Peabody Symphony orchestra. His literary ability was noticed when he gave lectures on English literature.

He formed a helpful literary friendship with Bayard Taylor. In 1879 Lanier was appointed lecturer on English literature at Johns Hopkins University. He died two years later from consumption.

Lanier stands in the front rank of the American poets of the last quarter of the 19th century.
